Nazi Losses In Caucasus Drive Heavy

Fling Infantrymen And Tanks Into Raids

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—The Germans flung infantrymen and tanks into "several attacks" northeast of Novorossisk today in a new outburst of fighting in the Caucasus, the Russians announced tonight.

Heavy artillery and air action accompanied the battle, and the "German operation ended with heavy losses to the enemy," said the Monday midnight communique as recorded here by the Soviet radio monitor.

The wording left it unclear whether the attempts to smash the Russian lines closing in on the Nazis' Kuban bridgehead had achieved some success or had been repulsed.

Russian and British sources however, said the Germans apparently were turned back sharply after each attack.

TWENTY-SEVEN NAZI BOMBERS SHOT DOWN

A special Moscow broadcast, also heard by the Soviet monitor, said twenty-seven out of sixty German bombers were shot down in an attack upon Shchigri, in the Kursk area, Sunday night.

There were reports meanwhile that both sides were massing powerful reserves for the next major blow along the eastern front. A German broadcast heard by Reuter's News Agency said the Russians were moving large forces into striking positions in the Kuban, near Leningrad and southwest of Moscow, supported by new artillery and tank units. Reuter's also reported German tank concentrations in the Orel and Belgorod sectors.

Heavy fighting also broke out on one sector of the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, the communique added, with thirty Germans killed in "a fierce clash." The Germans sent a battalion of infantry and six tanks against the Russians holding an inhabited place. Three

Government Will Act on Coal Output

To Declare State of National Emergency

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—With an order in council providing for a proclamation to declare a state of national emergency in coal production, the Government today cleared the way for action to increase the output of Canadian mines.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the order in the House of Commons. He said action that will be taken by the Government would be disclosed at a subsequent sitting.

It is understood that an order is likely to be issued within a few days providing for the compulsory transfer to mines of men experienced in coal mining and now engaged in other employment. It is also expected to affect miners now in the armed forces.

The order in council, dated today, said that "unless supplies of coal are forthwith increased and maintained at an adequate level the war effort and the life and health of the nation will be gravely imperilled."

WILL DISREGARD SITUATION IN U.S.

In answer to a question by Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, Mr. King said it was proposed to issue the proclamation regardless of the coal situation in the United States.

"But," he added, "I want to make it perfectly clear that that situation is one which the Ministers of the Crown must necessarily take into account as having certain possible consequences upon Canada's fuel supply.

"Apart from that situation altogether there is the fact, to mention just one thing, that we are about a month late this year, as compared with other years in the matter of the transportation of coal supplies. There has been a falling off in the production of coal for some time past.

"We have to realize that there is an Autumn and a Winter ahead of us and provision must be made as soon as possible. Then the House will have observed that when trouble threatened a few days ago in the United States shipments of coal to Canada were immediately cut off.

"That may happen again and no one can say what shortage there may be in the United States in their own supply if there is a serious

Two Vessels Lost to Axis By Scuttling

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—Two Axis vessels attempting to break the Allied blockade of the Continent have been scuttled after interception by British warships, an Admiralty communique said tonight.

One blockade runner, the 4,973-ton Silvaplana, was "inward bound from the Far East with a valuable cargo of rubber and tin," the communique said. The cruiser Adventure sighted her 200 miles off Cape Finisterre, Spain, and ordered her to stop, whereupon the crew started coming over the sides.

"Flames enveloped the blockade runner's bridge and a series of explosions rent her hull," the Admiralty said. "Burning fiercely and with her ammunition exploding, she heeled over and sank stern first."

The entire crew, including more than 100 German Navy personnel, was rescued.

The other ship was the 8,068-ton Regensburg, "also heavily laden and inbound from the Far East." It was intercepted between Greenland and Iceland by the cruiser Glasgow, patrolling in the Denmark Strait.

Warning shots brought her to a halt and signs of panic were apparent aboard, the Admiralty said. The crew started jumping overboard, the Regensburg signaled "I stop," and the Glasgow ceased fire.

"Soon afterwards, the Regensburg was fired with scuttling charges and her crew abandoned ship," the communique said. Due to icy waters and a heavy sea, only six of the large company was saved.

Germans Try To Reassure

BERNE, Switzerland, May 17 (AP).—Germany has started a campaign to bolster Italy's determination for the coming Battle of Europe with promises that she would not be left to defend herself alone, D.N.B., organ of the German Foreign Office, gave the official blessing today with a declaration that the southern front would be supported jointly.

The London Daily Mail and Daily Herald in front-page stories Monday said Hitler was preparing to abandon Italy.

Some newspapers made it clear that each Axis partner is trying to assure the other with many, many words. Rome dispatches told of Italian determination and confidence in the Nazi collaborator; editorial comment in the Nazi press stressed the willingness to share the battle, even though "Germany doesn't overlook the fact that events in the Mediterranean affect Italy more than Germany," said a correspondent of The Neue Zuricher Zeitung.

This revaled the realistic seriousness with which Germany regards Italy's position since the loss of Africa.

Total of 299 Die When Hospital Ship Is Sunk By Japanese Submarine

Mostly Medical Personnel—Only Sixty-Four Saved—Vessel Was Fully-Lighted and Marked

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 18 (Tuesday) (AP).—Two hundred and fifty-six Australian and British medical personnel, including eleven nurses and forty-three additional crew members, perished when a Japanese submarine torpedoed the Australian hospital ship Centaur a few miles off the Queensland coast in the darkness of last Friday morning, it was announced today.

Only sixty-four of the ship's complement of 363 were rescued. The others are missing and believed lost.

The only woman survivor was one of the dozen nurses aboard. The vessel was en route from Sydney to New Guinea and was fully illuminated and the Red Cross sign was brightly lighted when the torpedo struck. The ship was traveling unescorted. It sank within three minutes.

NO PATIENTS ABOARD VESSEL

No patients were aboard the Centaur.

The survivors spent thirty-six hours on a flimsy raft before they were picked up in the middle of the afternoon Saturday.

"At 4.10 a.m. on May 14 an enemy submarine torpedoed and sank without warning the Australian hospital ship Centaur forty miles east of Brisbane, while en route from Sydney to New Guinea," the Allied announcement said.

"The vessel was traveling unescorted and was fully illuminated and marked with the Red Cross and complying with all provisions of international law governing hospital ships in time of war.

"The weather was clear and visibility was excellent.

"The vessel capsized and sank within three minutes after being hit.

"Of the 363 members of the crew and medical staff and nurses on board, sixty-four were rescued. The remainder were lost.

"The survivors saw the enemy submarine surfaced shortly after the attack."

SURVIVORS STAND THIRTY-SIX HOURS

Half-a-dozen survivors stood for the entire thirty-six hours on the wheelhouse wall which was blown into the water and served as a makeshift raft. Most of the time the boards were two feet under water and toward the last they were about ready to go under entirely.

Looking for Swift End to Attu Drive

Heavy Weather Delaying Action

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—A swift conclusion to the drive to force the Japanese from Attu in the Aleutians appeared possible here tonight on the basis of meagre reports from the North Pacific island.

Virtually the sole definite information is that heavy weather has been delaying the action, but one authority went so far as to say "one good day of clear weather is all we need."

From Tokio radio came indications that such a day may be at hand—in fact may have arrived—for the enemy broadcast asserted that naval and air bombardment was supporting streams of American reinforcements.

Heretofore the fog has been reported so thick that air activity, sea action and even major ground movements were almost impossible.

The Tokio radio—unconfirmed from any sources in Washington—reported a pitched battle is under way on the northern coast of Attu. The enemy broadcast a statement that the American invasion took troops onto the island from three sides—north, south and east. It asserted that the force landing on the eastern beaches was annihilated.

An offensive move possible after Attu is wholly in American hands is bombing of the major Japanese naval base at Paramushiru on the northern end of the Kuriles Island chain, reaching north and east from Japan. That base is only 360 miles from the Aleutians.

GLEED MISSING

CAIRO, May 17 (CP). — Wing Cmdr. Ian C. Gleed, D.S.O., D.F.C., a Battle of Britain pilot and author of the best-seller, "Arise to Conquer," is missing after a fighter sweep, Gleed, leader of a desert air force Spitfire wing, probably had more fighting experience than any other man in Fighter Command.

AGAIN RAID GERMANY

LONDON, May 18 (Tuesday) (CP).—The Berlin radio reported today that R.A.F. bombers had made "nuisance-raids" over South and Northwest Germany last night, thus continuing the Allied aerial offensive against Europe into the sixth successive night.

WEALTHY DESIGNER ESCAPES

BOULDER CITY, Nev., May 17 (AP).—One man was drowned and four others, including Howard Hughes, wealthy airplane designer and manufacturer, were hurt when their twin-engined experimental flying boat crashed and sank today in Lake Mead, north of Boulder Dam. Hughes escaped with only a minor head cut and the three other injured men were brought to the Boulder City Hospital.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, May 17.—Allied air forces have maintained heavy air attacks on Italian bases over the week-end. Sharp damage was done at Civita Vecchia, north of Rome, while Pantelleria, Italian island air base southward of Sicily, has been put out of action.

There have been also smashing attacks on Palermo and other Sicilian towns and harbors. Altogether Italy has been hammered more seriously than ever before.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder has told The Times' Algiers correspondent he believes the Luftwaffe will crack first. It was thoroughly beaten from the air over Tunisia and its losses were crippling. Its fighting spirit was deteriorating.

The Germans had not shown themselves good in the use of aircraft because they did not really understand air as a medium for fighting. Technically, they were good, but British machines were better still and it looked as if technical superiority would be maintained.

"The battle of the Mediterranean," said Sir Arthur, "began in Egypt two and a half years ago. The Italian fleet was more or less knocked out at Cape Matapan. Formerly that would have been enough to clear the Mediterranean.

"But the enemy obtained air bases in Crete, Libya and Tunis after we had completed our chain of air bases by capture of those in Tunisia.

"Air war is a separate war. You've got to win air battles first and thus pin your enemy down before you can help the army and navy."

An intensive air blitz has been directed against many targets in the continent from the English Channel to Berlin during the week-end. Berlin has had another Mosquito attack. U-boat yards again were damaged, ships, railway lorries and especially airdromes were hammered, and all that the Luftwaffe could do in return was to send small numbers of airplanes in a raid on the East Anglican coast and drop bombs in the London area.

Civilians were killed, but other results were trifling.

On the Kuban front the Russians are fighting a strange kind of warfare. Small ships in river channels fight minor naval engagements among the reeds and against mudbanks. The Russians hold the principal river highway and when the Germans tried to cross it in boats they were smashed with substantial losses, says The Times' Moscow correspondent.

The Red Army has now consolidated a useful bridgehead in the Lisiechansk area on the Donetz front. The Red Air Force keeps a

Damage Slight As Japanese Planes Attack

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 18 (Tuesday) (CP).—Forty-three Japanese planes attacked the Allied base at Wau on Monday, the High Command reported today. Damage was slight.

"Twenty-two enemy bombers, escorted by twenty-one fighters, bombed the airdrome, causing slight damage and casualties," the communique said.

Allied bombers attacked the enemy airdrome at Gasmata, New Britain, destroying an enemy bomber caught on the ground and causing numerous explosions in the supply dump and dispersal areas.

Bombers Blast Base Near Rome

Roar Over Capital On Return Trip

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 17 (AP).—The R.A.F. gave Fascist Italy a stern warning that Rome is within easy reach of North African-based bombers by sending Wellingtons roaring over the capital last night after they had blasted the seaplane base at Lido Di Roma, only fifteen miles away.

The bombers encountered no enemy fighter opposition and little flak over Lido Di Roma, where they bombed and strafed at leisure from a low level, or while they droned over Rome itself, flooded in bright moonlight.

ONLY BLACKENED TWISTED STEEL REMAINS

Frameworks of blackened, twisted steel were all that remained of hangars, moorings and parked planes after the big two-engined R.A.F. craft finished working on the base at the mouth of the Tiber River. No bombs were dropped on Rome itself.

Meanwhile, reconnaissance showed that extensive damage was caused in last week's raids which carried to enemy targets a total of more than 4,500,000 pounds of bombs—the largest weight of explosives dropped in any similar period of the North African campaign.

Fascist headquarters at Marsala, Sicily, was hit May 11 and one complete wing and the facade demolished. Fascist headquarters at Palermo, Sicily, was blasted by a near miss, May 9.

MANY POINTS SERIOUSLY DAMAGED

Summing up the situation at Marsala, a photographic expert said: "The seaplane base, Fascist headquarters, the Molo Di Ponente and boulevards and quays—all have been seriously damaged. Communications appear to have been seriously interrupted by repeated hits on railroads."

Late photographs confirm the sinking of two ships, the firing of a third and damage to three others at Civitavecchia, important port forty miles northwest of Rome.

Today's Allied communique confirmed a report yesterday by the Italians that Trapani, Western Sicilian port, had been battered Saturday night. Wellingtons scored a hit on the Trapani gas works, causing a great explosion in the centre of the town.

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Prime Minister King left Ottawa at 3 p.m. C.D.T. by Canadian National Railways for Montreal, en route to Washington to attend conferences between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

BOOST COAL PRICE

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP). — The Prices Board announced today that, because the margin of profit obtained by coal dealers in Toronto had been forced below economic levels, working a hardship particularly upon smaller dealers, a coal price increase of 25 cents per ton and an additional service charge of 50 cents per ton for bagging would go into effect Wednesday in the Toronto area.

Spectacular Blow at German Dynamos and Canal Transport

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—Britain's four-engined Lancasters, flying into fierce anti-aircraft fire at an altitude of only 100 feet, early today dropped a barrage of heavy mines, which tore breaches in two of Germany's biggest dams and loosed destructive floods in a spectacular blow at Hitler's war dynamos and canal-borne transport.

Rail and highway bridges and power plants were swept away, and industrial centres flooded as the torrents roared down the Ruhr and Weser valleys across communications to the "invasion coast" of France.

The dams hit were the Eder, containing 202,000,000 tons of water and described by the Air Ministry as the largest in Germany, and the Mohne, which held 134,000,000 tons of water. The Sorpe Reservoir, which with the Mohne installation controlled about 70 per cent of the water catchment of the Ruhr basin, also was attacked, but no damage was reported to it.

CANADIANS AMONG PICKED CREWS

Picked crews which had trained especially for the assignment for weeks flew the Lancasters, and it was learned tonight that a handful of Canadians was among the crews. Flt. Sgt. Kenneth W. Brown, twenty-two, a pilot from Moose Jaw, Sask., was on the Sorpe operation.

Brown enlisted in the R.C.A.F. two years ago and was posted to an R.A.F. bomber squadron.

The Air Ministry said tonight that the break in the Eder Dam alone flooded Kassel, important industrial city, and towns beyond it; disrupted hydro-electric stations throughout the area, and seriously affected traffic on the Mittelland Canal, main East-West water artery and a link between all main navigable rivers west of Berlin, and the Wesser Canal.

"The River Ruhr itself might become unnavigable," the Air Ministry said, "and there is a possibility that important industrial areas in the Ruhr will be flooded. There are more than 300 waterworks and many pump stations in the Ruhr valley, and interference with these would very seriously affect the supply of water for industrial processes."

Nazi Planes Make Stabs

Few Casualties In London Raids

LONDON, May 18 (Tuesday) (CP).—For the second successive night, London had three air-raid warnings with planes stabbing at the City early today and anti-aircraft guns blasting into action.

The raids covered roughly the same four-hour period as on Sunday night and Monday morning.

First scattered reports indicated there were not many casualties and, as on the raids twenty-four hours before, damage was chiefly in suburban areas, where fire and smoke could be seen from vantage points of Central London.

German raiders also worried the southeast coast. Bombs fell upon one town, but it was reported there were no casualties.

The anti-aircraft barrage during the second London alert seemed to be the heaviest of all.

The Germans' approach largely duplicated Sunday night's method with individual planes darting in and dropping fairly heavy explosives, hitting houses, hotels, shops and garages and burying a few dozen persons under the wreckage of their homes.

Nazi bombers began attacking shortly before Sunday midnight, returning during the early hours Monday in what was later called the biggest raid on London since last February. It was estimated that not more than twenty planes participated with four of them shot down.

ATTACKING CREWS KNEW OPPORTUNITY

The attacking crews knew that "it was an opportunity of doing as much damage as could be done by thousands of tons of bombs dropped on many nights running," the Air Ministry announced.

Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris, chief of the bomber command, said "we had high hopes, but the immediate results of the breaching of the dams were far beyond our expectations."

Following up this blow at a new type of target, formations of United States heavy and medium bombers and high-altitude fighters fought through enemy flak and fighters over the Continent this afternoon to keep going an offensive which has been almost continuous for 140 hours.

The American bombers made their mass attack on Lorient's harbor and the adjacent U-boat base at Keroman, but also dropped bombs effectively on Bordeaux on France's south Atlantic Coast. The fighters made an offensive sweep over the Cherbourg Peninsula.

A "large number" of enemy fighters was destroyed in the clear bombing weather, it was said, and at least two were brought down by accompanying R.A.F. and Dominion fighters, while fourteen of the bombers, including four four-engined planes were missing.

BOMBS EXPLODE SQUARELY ON TARGET

The flyers said they saw their bombs explode squarely on the target. The whole waterfront was pock-marked with bomb bursts, they added.

In some places as many as 100 to 150 Focke-Wulfs were reported hurled into the fight in a desperate attempt to ward off the attacks.

The Allies hit the Axis hard elsewhere from the air over a full week-end.

Vicinity of Rome—The R.A.F.'s Wellingtons from Africa flew over the capital of Italy Sunday night and blasted the strategic seaplane base of Lido di Roma, at the mouth of the Tiber only fifteen miles southwest of Rome, and left rows of wrecked planes and the twisted ribs of two hangars in their wake. It was the nearest the war has come to Rome.

Berlin—Other R.A.F. bombers bombed Berlin and widespread targets in the Ruhr and Rhineland. It was the third raid on Berlin in four nights.

Sicily—Wellingtons also carried on the attack on this stepping stone to Italy, hitting a gas works at Trapani on Saturday night and causing a huge explosion.

Northern France—R.C.A.F. fighters damaged railway targets in offensive sweeps Sunday night. Canadian bombers laid mines in enemy waters. No aircraft were lost.

Roosevelt Is Hopeful More Success Coming

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP). — President Roosevelt, the White House disclosed today, has told Premier Stalin it is "reasonable to expect further successes on both the eastern and "the western front" and expressed a hope to Gen. Chiang Kai-shek that Allied forces will take the initiative in Asia "in the near future."

Mr. Roosevelt's messages were in response to congratulations sent by the Russian and Chinese leaders on the victory in North Africa. They were dated May 13.

The message to Stalin said: "Thank you for your message of congratulation on the performance of our forces in liberating Tunisia. Now that we have the initiative it is reasonable to expect further successes on both the eastern and the western fronts."

The message to Chiang Kai-shek said: "For the Allied forces in the African theatre of war I should like to express appreciation of your message of congratulations on complete destruction of the enemy of liberty in Africa. We hope in the near future to take, together with your gallant army, the initiative in Asia and bring to an end the war which you have for many years carried on successfully in spite of all difficulties."

DYERSBURG, Tenn., May 17 (AP). —Six United States Army airmen were killed and four others injured today when their four-engine bomber crashed near here.

Commissioned In the Field

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Air Force Headquarters announced tonight that more than forty members of R.C.A.F. air crew serving overseas, all of them graduates of the combined (air) training organization, have been commissioned in the field for efficiency, meritorious service and the display of qualities of leadership.

They include:

City Suggests Esquimalt Call Greater Victoria Conference

A SUGGESTION that the Esquimalt Council communicate with Oak Bay and Saanich with a view to holding a conference to discuss formation of a Greater Victoria municipal district was made by the City Council during a meeting yesterday afternoon. A letter from the Esquimalt Council recently recommended that the city take the initiative.

Members of the parks committee were given power to act on a request from Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union for use of Macdonald Park on July 5, and an application [illegible] for use of the same park for a concert on July 14.

Alderman Archie Wills was named to represent the mayor during a youth rally at Metropolitan United Church tomorrow afternoon. The city solicitor was asked to report on a claim of $325.85 from Joseph C. McDavitt for injuries allegedly received on April 6 when his motorcycle struck a Johnson Street bridge barrier.

The public works committee and solicitor were requested to report on a claim of John Day that the plumbing and sewer by-law passed in 1930 was not legal and should be immediately withdrawn. An offer of James Graham to pay $200 for two lots on Julia Street was handed to the lands committee.

A recommendation of the city engineer that his assistant's salary be increased to $220 per month was handed to the finance committee. Resignation of J. D. Bissett, a truck driver and relief operator at the Johnson Street bridge, was accepted by the council.

BY-LAW TO PERMIT BUILDING TABLED

A by-law to alter the classification of Balmoral Road property to a light industry category in order to permit New Method Laundries, Ltd., to erect a storage building in a residential district was taken from the agenda and filed. It was agreed to sign documents to permit Wartime Housing, Limited, to purchase sixteen lots in James Bay district and eighty-four in Burnside district for $1 each in order to erect more homes for shipbuilders.

Lands committee sales ratified by the council included south side of Hillside Avenue, near Bay Street, $150; south side of Selkirk Avenue, near Burleith Crescent, $150; southwest corner of Topaz Avenue and Quesnel Street, $200, and a lot on the northwest corner of Fairfield Road and Cook Street, $700.

On motion of the finance committee it was agreed to recommend to next year's council that organizations raising funds for servicemen's comforts be combined with a view to reducing the number of tag days to be allowed. Superannuation benefits were granted to F. W. Patton, a former Johnson Street bridge operator.

On recommendation of the finance committee the following members of the City Hall staff received the pay increases noted: Miss F. M. Castleton, $2.50 per month; H. Easler, $10; G. McIlmoyle, $10; P. Parkinson, $5; J. Wittcomb, $15; G. McKenzie, $10, and W. Frampton, $5 per month.

WILL CONSIDER MORE CITY INSPECTORS

The health and finance committees were requested to discuss the possibility of increasing the sanitary inspector's staff with a view to making rigid inspections of restaurants, delicatessens, bakeries and other premises where food is displayed. The council learned that restaurants were unable to purchase new heavy crockery, which forced many to use cracked dishes.

Instructions were given the city solicitor to draft a by-law to compel all minors to be off the streets at night hours, to be designated later. The health committee successfully moved that statistics on venereal diseases in this area be requested from Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial health officer. Mayor Andrew McGavin pointed out the police commission had been trying to secure such figures unsuccessfully for the past nine months.

A report of the water board on the purity of Sooke and Goldstream Lakes water revealed the following positive tests for bacillus coli: 1938, twelve cases; 1939, five cases; 1940, twelve cases; 1941, ten cases; 1942, one case, and 1943, January to March, one case, a total of forty-one cases during the period listed. Mayor McGavin stated he understood there had been only thirty-five positive tests for bacillus coli. The health committee and water board were asked to report.

Hospital Ship Sunk

vivors were members of the crew who were above decks and on duty at the time. Thirty of the crew of seventy-three were saved.

The survivors said they heard the motors of the submarine which surfaced in the darkness nearby.

The only surviving woman passenger was Eleanor Savage, of Sydney, who received a black eye and facial bruises when she jumped from the burning and sinking ship. Other survivors said she never whimpered or complained. Instead she helped keep up the morale of others with fervent prayers. Only when rescued did she disclose a side injury she had received and doctors discovered she had three broken ribs.

AWAKENED BY TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

Nurse Savage said she was awakened by a terrific explosion and when she looked out of her cabin window into the passageway she saw the ship was in flames. She and her roommate donned lifejackets over their pajamas and leaped from the ship together, but her roommate struck floating wreckage and was killed.

"The sea was covered with oil which fortunately did not catch fire," she said. "I am a good swimmer and got to the raft. One of the men gave me his overcoat, which I shared with a sixteen-year-old cabin boy.

"The first thing I did when I heard and felt the explosion and knew we were torpedoed was to pray and we said many prayers while waiting for rescue."

Frank Davidson, of Sydney, ship's butcher, said that before he jumped from the ship he saw through the companionway a group of men attempting to force their way up through the hatches which were blocked by debris from the explosion. He said he could hear them screaming for help.

Davidson said he helped a nurse on with her lifejacket but never saw her again.

HUNDREDS TRAPPED AS SHIP WENT DOWN

Covered with oil, Davidson swam to the raft and watched the ship go down, with hundreds still trapped inside.

"From the raft we could see the lighthouse on the Queensland coast," Davidson said. "The ship's pilot was on our raft and he said we were twenty-seven miles offshore.

"We thought we heard airplane motors in the darkness, but the pilot said it was Diesel engines. Then we saw a couple of lights close by and knew it must be the submarine.

"During daylight Friday we saw seven airplanes, one big ship at a distance and we sent up rockets but they went unnoticed.

"The next afternoon we heard an airplane and sent up rockets. It flew over us and within ten minutes an Allied ship picked us all up. Although we had tried to row toward what we thought was land, we discovered we were only two miles from the sinking scene when we were picked up and we evidently rowed in circles."

Davidson said the survivors were on four rafts, plus the makeshift wheelhouse wall, and a few clung to floating wreckage. Some of the rafts had plenty of food and water, others were short on supplies, but the ocean swells prevented transfer of provisions.

The ship's butcher added that sharks repeatedly were driven off by use of the oars. A twelve-foot shark snapped at an empty tin tossed into the water and sheared off the bottom of the can.

The survivors said the Japanese could not have mistaken the hospital ship. Red crosses on its side were newly repainted before leaving Sydney last Wednesday and the "ship was lit up to glory," with red and green lights visible at a great distance—but also an excellent target.

Dams Blasted

dams would seriously affect the power and water supplies of the great Ruhr towns and the war potential of the entire valley, qualified sources said, besides disrupting traffic on the busy canals and waterways which connect the Weser and Ems Rivers and afford relief for east-west rail arteries.

The Mohnie Dam, on a tributary of the Ruhr, backed up a lake of four square miles 125 feet deep. The Eder, also known as the Waldeck, on a tributary of the Weser, was a quarter-mile long and formed a reservoir four and a half miles square and 164 feet deep.

The Mohne, forty-eight miles east of Essen, near Soest, and the Eder, forty miles to the southeast, were used to generate power, especially important in view of Germany's coal and transport difficulties, but were believed more important as regulators of the flow in the rivers and canals.

FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY SINCLAIR

The first announcement was made by Sir Archibald Sinclair, Air Minister, in a speech.

"I have got news—great news—for you today," he said. "The Bomber Command—the javelin in our armory—struck last night heavy blows of a new kind at the sources of German war power."

"The operation was one of extraordinary difficulty and hazard," he declared. "Eight big Lancasters were lost with their precious crews, but Wing Commander (G. P.) Gibson, who commanded an aircraft engaged in the operation, pressed home the attack against strong defences and regardless of danger."

To this the Air Ministry added: "Reconnaissance later established that the Mohne Dam had been breached over a length of 100 yards and that the power station below had been swept away by the resulting floods."

Still later reconnaissance the Air Ministry reported, showed the floods caused in the Ruhr Valley by the Mohne Dam break "are spreading fast. Waters are sweeping down the Ruhr Valley. Railway and road bridges are broken down. Hydro-electric power stations are destroyed or damaged. A railway marshaling yard is under water."

LIKELY TO SPREAD OVER GREAT AREA

Floods from the Eder Dam breach, it added, "are already as great as the floods in the Ruhr, but the country here is flatter and the water is likely to spread over a greater area."

Already it was said to have spilled over into the Fulda Valley.

Waters were rising in the strategic Dortmund region. That area and the Upper Ruhr were among the places where bridges had been washed out.

The R.A.F. apparently had devised a new technique to attack successfully the power dams, but it was secretive on that point.

Unofficial sources said, however, that a way had been found to float the mines past the ordinary safeguards through the sluicegates into the vital machinery.

Besides the daylight attack by the Americans at Lorient, Keroman and Bordeaux, British Beaufighters raided an enemy convoy off the Netherlands coast this afternoon and hit two merchant ships with torpedoes and left three of the escort vessels on fire. The R.A.F. also struck at the air fields at Caen and Coxy-de-Furnes.

At least seven enemy fighters were destroyed by the R.A.F. today, it was stated, compared with one British plane missing.

The Rome radio, in a broadcast recorded here by Reuter's News Agency, quoted reports from Paris that Bordeaux with without electricity, gas and water tonight as the result of the raid.

The Vichy radio said a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press that 148 persons were killed and more than 200 injured by the bombs which fell on Bordeaux.

Half a million Frenchmen have recently arrived in Germany as forced labor, making a total there of nearly 600,000, in addition to French war prisoners numbering 1,000,000. Altogether, says The Times' special correspondent, one-quarter of the Germans' 40,000,000 workers are foreigners, including prisoners of war.

These men may yet take a potent share in the overthrow of Nazi tyranny.

A secret council of resistance has been set up inside France to co-ordinate the movement for liberation. Eight underground organizations are brought together and in touch with General De Gaulle's Fighting French committee.

This council wants speedy creation of a provisional French Government, with General De Gaulle as leader and General Giraud as military chief. It's in that explanation these suggestions do not upset an agreement for equality as between the two generals.

Editorially, The Times discusses the World Food Conference at Hot Springs, Va. It says that, if food were properly distributed throughout the world, instead of being wasted as in the past, there would not be enough production even yet, not to mention surplus, to maintain all over the world a reasonable standard of health and efficiency.

Any long-term policy for food production, adds The Times, must determine not only how food-producing countries are to export their surpluses, but how and in what commodities or services they will accept payment.

stoppage of production in that country. All these facts being considered the Government has thought it advisable to take the action which it has taken."

The last occasion in which a proclamation was issued declaring a national emergency was immediately prior to the declaration of war. The proclamation at that time provided a basis for implementing the War Measures Act.

Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) asked the Prime Minister whether representatives of miners' unions had been or would be consulted before regulations affecting the industry were framed.

"The answer is yes," Mr. King replied.

Defence Minister Ralston said some 1,200 soldiers had been given leave to go back to coal mining and the policy had been to give leave to as many as could be spared and were qualified to go.

B.C. Airman Shares Prize

Splits $1,500 for 1,000th Nazi Bagged

WITH THE R.A.F. FIGHTER COMMAND, Somewhere in England, May 18 (CP).—Young Johnny Charles did a wing-over-wing roll over this airfield in Southern England again today.

The ground crew waiting for his return were pop-eyed when they [illegible] about ready to see the R.A.F. squadron leader from Lashburn, Sask., make a normal landing instead of coming in signalling his fourth kill in as many days.

Today's kill brought Charles' score to eleven and one-half destroyed and six and one-half probables and followed a busy week-end in which Charles shared with a Fighting French squadron commander a sweepstakes purse of approximately $1,500 for shooting down the 1,000th enemy plane in his sector.

Each destroyed a Nazi aircraft so close together it was impossible to tell which was the 1,000th and which was No. 999 so the pilots split the prize money.

Operations in the last four days boosted the sector's total to 1,012 aircraft destroyed.

Friday morning Charles scored the first of his run of four kills, bringing the sector's total to 966.

"LAST SA " HIM GOING STRAIGHT DOWN"

"I was leading the squadron and saw this Jerry below me," said the twenty-four-year-old pilot. "I dived under him and then came up and opened fire at about 220 yards, closing to almost fifty. The enemy aircraft turned on its back and I last saw him going straight down."

Saturday morning he flew as escort for Ventura bombers with the Fighting French squadron.

"We met a German formation of about a couple of dozen so we were almost evenly matched," said Charles, who leads the R.A.F.'s "Lancashire" squadron. "I saw two of them going in to attack a Ventura so I dived and got close. I gave one a burst. Bits and pieces seemed to be flying all over the place. Then he burst into flames and the pilot bailed out."

Up above the Fighting French squadron also was in action and while they were fighting Charles tangled with the German formation leader.

"I gave him a burst and saw fire but I was too busy to follow him down," he said. "My No. 2, however, saw him spread over the ground and said 'It was just like porridge.'"

Charles' mother lives at Vancouver.

Workers to Be First Notified

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Workers in war plants where lay-offs are anticipated will be the first to be notified of staff reductions, Munitions Minister Howe said today in the House of Commons.

Mr. Howe and Labor Minister Mitchell spoke of possible lay-offs in reply to Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, who inquired concerning an article in The Toronto Globe and Mail saying that production of at least fifteen major items was to be cancelled or sharply curtailed and that mass lay-offs might affect from 35,000 to 50,000 persons.

As far as humanly possible National Selective Service would take care of workers who might be laid off, Mr. Mitchell said.

SEMBLANCE OF FACT IN ARTICLE

Mr. Howe said the information on production changes given in the article was "wholly at variance with the facts" although there was "a semblance of fact running through it."

Certain curtailments were contemplated but speculation was harmful to the war effort, disturbed workers, and might start migrations of workers which could be ill-afforded, Mr. Howe said.

"Announcement will be made as soon as the facts can be determined," Mr. Howe said. "Workers in the plants concerned are entitled to the first notice of any change."

Mr. Mitchell told the House he proposes to make a complete statement on new manpower policies "in a few days."

of the tanks also were destroyed, the communique said.

FOUR ENEMY GUN BATTERIES DESTROYED

In artillery duels in the Kuban, Soviet guns destroyed four enemy artillery and mortar batteries and several machine-gun nests, while in the air fourteen German planes were shot down, the Russians reported.

Operating over the whole great front, Soviet airmen sank a patrol ship, blew up an ammunition dump and dispersed and partly annihilated a company of German troops, the communique said.

In the Lisichansk area, 200 Germans were reported killed.

Russian artillery destroyed enemy fortifications in the Volkhov sector to the north.

Guerrillas in one district of the Dnieperopetrovsk region were said to have attacked a German railway line, killing sixty of the enemy, and setting fire to supply dumps. Other guerrillas in the Stalino region raided an enemy garrison and "wiped out several dozen Hitlerites."

The noon communique said 100 Germans were killed on the western front before Smolensk.

MacArthur Says Hospital Ship's Sinking Savagery

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 18 (Tuesday) (CP).—Commenting on the sinking of the hospital ship Centaur, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said:

"I cannot express the revulsion I feel at this unnecessary act of cruelty. Its limitless savagery represents a continuation of the calculated attempt to create a sense of trepidation through the practice of horrors to shock normal sensibilities.

"Brutal excesses of the Philippine campaign, execution of our captured airmen, the barbarity in Papua are all of a pattern. The enemy does not understand. He apparently cannot understand that our invincible strength is not so much of body as it is of soul and rises with adversity.

"The Red Cross will not falter under this foul blow. Its light of mercy will but shine the brighter on our way to inevitable victory."

Blast Japanese Posts in Burma

NEW DELHI, India, May 17 (CP).—R.A.F. bombing continued to harass Japanese positions in Burma yesterday, setting fires during a low-level attack on Indainggyi, in the Myittha Valley, and striking at Narigan, a village on the only road which connects the town of Akyab with the mainland, a communique said today.

The war bulletin said "from the Arakan there is nothing to report." This was in the area where last Friday British headquarters announced a land army withdrawal from Maungdaw in the face of further Japanese infiltration.

American bombers also dropped ten tons of bombs on three junctions near Shwebo yesterday and an even greater tonnage of explosives on the railroad yards at Zigon, twenty-seven miles northwest of Shwebo, it was announced today. Shwebo is fifty miles northwest of Mandalay.

SMOKE VISIBLE FOR FIFTY MILES

"Fires following an explosion in the storage sheds at Zigon caused smoke columns which were visible fifty miles from the target," a United States communique said.

The formation's bombs were reported to have destroyed rolling stock, tracks and warehouses.

Railroad yards at Mksogyon, six miles southeast of Shwebo, and warehouses at Wetlet, fifteen miles, and at Magyizauk, twenty miles southeast of Shwebo, suffered direct hits attended by explosions and fires.

A third formation gave Wetlet another pounding and also hit railroad equipment at Paukkan.

Would Have Teachers Take Essential Work

CALGARY, May 17 (CP).—Teachers from the Calgary area are being asked to take essential work during the long vacation, W. Harry Ross, manager of the Selective Service here, said today.

There are approximately 1,000 teachers in Calgary and district, Mr. Ross said, of whom 800 are women and 200 are men.

Interim Bill On Supplies Put Through

Sharp Exchanges in Debate Criticisms

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP) — After discussions lasting throughout the afternoon and evening sittings the House of Commons tonight put through all stages an Interim Supply [illegible] expenditure of one-sixth of the main non-war estimates to be voted for the current fiscal year.

Debate brought some sharp exchanges when criticism was made of Government expenditures and methods of preparing the report of the auditor-general.

Finance Minister Ilsley asked the House to put through the formalities necessary to provide him with money for non-war and war purposes for June and July.

Two months' interim supply was voted earlier to cover the first two months of the fiscal year, April and May, and the minister suggested that supply for the next two months be provided now.

A second interim supply for one-sixth of the War Appropriation Bill will be taken up tomorrow.

First speaker on the Interim Supply Bill, to provide $40,307,998, was J. G. Diefenbaker (Progressive Conservative, Lake Centre), who said a more detailed breakdown of non-war expenditure by the Government should be given the House of Commons.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that non-war estimates in the fourth year of the war will amount to $610,880,000 compared to $565,562,000 in the fiscal year 1942-43.

CHANGES MADE IN INFORMATION BOARD

He said changes had taken place in the Wartime Information Board as a result of publicity in the House in respect to high-salaried officials." He said he expected other changes would occur.

Mr. Diefenbaker went on to Transport Department affairs, mentioning Dr. Aime Chartier, of Montreal, who, he said, had received fees of some $90,000 under the Government Employees' Compensation Act.

If it had been known a doctor was receiving from $30,000 to $35,000 a year for part-time assistance to the Government an inquiry would have been made earlier, said Mr. Diefenbaker, continuing to stress the need of fuller information on Government outlays.

Dealing with Prices Board salaries, Mr. Diefenbaker said members of the permanent civil service would have to reach high places to obtain salaries paid some members of this wartime staff.

Prices Board expenses above salaries were between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 and on these outlays, House members had no detailed information. Millions might be saved to the people if detailed information were readily available to the house.

Hour Is Drawing Near, Says Knox

BOSTON, May 17 (AP).—The outer bastions of the enemy have been broken down and "the hour in which we shall strike at his main fortifications, both in Europe and in Asia, draws near," Navy Secretary Frank Knox said tonight.

In a speech prepared for the 80th annual dinner of the Massachusetts Committee of the Conference of Christians and Jews, Knox said the Allied Nations are acquiring greater and greater domination of the enemy's lines of communication.

"This can only mean a swift increase in the number of human lives sacrificed, heavier and heavier expenditure of wealth to support the forces, more and more restrictions, strain and sacrifices on the home front," Knox said. "Our young manpower is steadily being absorbed by the fighting services; the supply of vital materials—for civilian use grows smaller and smaller. Civilian production and services, already seriously curtailed, will contract still more. The rationing of food has only begun."

Premier King Defends His Minister to U.S.

Says Can Not Expect Temporary Appointee to Sever Himself From His Business Connections

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the House of Commons today defended Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian Minister to the United States from what he described as "innuendoes," in which M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, last Friday linked Mr. McCarthy with Mr. Coldwell's remarks about the Aluminum Company of Canada.

Mr. King said the Canadian minister in Washington had nothing to do with the deal under which, by advances from the United States and tax concessions from Canada, the Aluminum Company of Canada built the great Shipshaw power plant in Quebec and otherwise expanded production capacity.

The Prime Minister spoke just before leaving for Washington where he said he expected he would have to use all his persuasive powers to induce Mr. McCarthy to remain in office in view what Mr. Coldwell had said in the House last week.

Mr. Coldwell, in his speech last Friday, criticized the deal by which the Aluminum Company had been helped to expand because of his objection to encouraging great corporations.

He suggested that Mr. McCarthy, as a director and legal consultant until recently of the Aluminum Company of Canada, and as "director and vice-president of the parent company, the Aluminum Company of the United States," should be recalled to Canada to describe his part in the Shipshaw deal.

READS ANSWERS FROM MR. McCARTHY

Mr. King today said he had caused Mr. Coldwell's remarks to be laid before Mr. McCarthy and now had the latter's answers from which he read.

In these answers Mr. McCarthy said he had never had any association with the Shipshaw deal, and that he had never discussed aluminum or taxation with any members or officers of the United States Government.

Of his alleged association with the company, Mr. McCarthy's reply said: "Mr. McCarthy is not now nor has he ever been a director or vice-president or officer of the Aluminum Company of America."

Later in the discussion, Mr. Coldwell claimed this was technically right, but that he had mistakenly named the parent company of Aluminum of Canada. He said the parent company was "Aluminum Limited," a Canadian company, and that the survey of corporate securities for 1942 showed Mr. McCarthy to be vice-president and director.

The Canadian Minister's reply said that he had been legal consultant for Aluminum of Canada from 1907 until "the last probably eight or ten years," when he was superseded by Aime Geoffrion, K.C., of Montreal, "who has been elected a director of the Aluminum Company of Canada in Mr. McCarthy's place."

Mr. King said Mr. McCarthy was not a career diplomat and could not be expected, while temporarily serving in a diplomatic role, to sever himself from his wide business connections. He did not ask that of Cabinet Ministers, leaving it entirely to their honor.

On a later motion to go into supply, Mr. Coldwell read from a 1942 corporate securities report showing Mr. McCarthy as a vice-president of Aluminium Ltd. the parent company of Aluminum Company of Canada.

Mr. Coldwell said that in the "clever" statement of the Prime Minister, it was truly said that Mr. McCarthy was not a director of Aluminum Company of Canada. He had made an error in naming the company in his statement of Friday. Actually Mr. McCarthy had been an officer of the parent company, Aluminium Ltd., last year.

Municipal Chapter

Mrs. T. A. Johnston, war service convener reported 187 articles had been received last month at a value of $159.70 at a meeting of Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., held last night with the regent, Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, in the chair. She also reported seventy-four pounds of wool had been purchased last month. Alexandra Rose Day will take place on June 26, under the convenership of Mrs. James Baker. Announcement was made that three of the I.O.D.E. standards will be carried at the "Remake Revue" by members of the Royal Bride Chapter, I.O.D.E. Proceeds from the blind date sale amounted to $276.65, and each primary chapter will receive about $22 through this effort. Mrs. F. P. Beckett stated members will meet at the statue of Queen Victoria for Empire Day service on May 21 at 9:45 o'clock. She will be assisted by Mrs. G. F. Green and Mrs. Spilsbury.

Members will meet at 10:45 o'clock on May 30 for Intercession Service at First Baptist Church. Miss Marjorie Holmes was reappointed library convener, other appointments were Mrs. S. R. Bowden as home hospitality convener, and Mrs. S. Youlden as War Savings Stamps convener. A meeting of United Municipal Effort Committee will be held on May 27 at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Dorothy Spurr was special guest at the meeting giving an address on home hospitality, and urging more homes on Sunday to be open for men and women of the three services.

Father E. Sobry Dies Here After Brief Illness

Chaplain at St. Joseph's Hospital for twenty years and latterly chaplain at Mount St. Mary Hospital for two years, Rev. Father Emile Sobry, eighty-two years, died yesterday morning at 999 Burdett Avenue, after an illness of one week.

Father Sobry was a native of Belgium and was educated there. His father was a farmer and he himself worked for a short period on the farm until he was seventeen years. He entered a seminary and was ordained to the priesthood at the age of twenty-four.

Shortly following his ordination he came to Canada and was assigned to the West Coast Indian Mission, where he served for over thirty years. He was greatly respected by the Indians whose language he spoke, and he had great influence with the Indian chiefs. His work was chiefly at Nootka, Kakawis and Ucluelet.

When his activity as a missionary was over, Father Sobry was for several years the parish priest at Nanaimo and built the parish house there.

Father Sobry came in 1922 to St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, in poor health. There was no chaplain at the institution, so he stayed on in that capacity for twenty years. Then he became chaplain at Mount St. Mary.

For thirty years Father Sobry was noted for preparing his own food, and, living alone, he did all his own work. His regular habits of life were a source of edification to his many friends.

Father Sobry was the last of the old Belgian missionaries who came to this city over fifty years ago.

A familiar figure to Victorians, Father Sobry daily walked from the hospital to Dallas Road for twenty years, and he was well known to non-Catholics as well as members of his own faith. He was a lovable and kindly man, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

The remains are resting in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel and will be removed to St. Andrew's Cathedral Wednesday evening at 8:30, where the Office of the Dead will be chanted. Pontifical Requiem Mass will be sung by Most Rev. J. C. Cody, Bishop of Victoria, Thursday morning at 10. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

No Reporters but Plenty to Drink

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 17 (AP).—The United Nations Food Conference, which opens here tomorrow, lacks authority to throw its corridors open to the press, it was disclosed today in a series of conversations between conference officials and newspapermen.

Several reporters took occasion in a meeting with Judge Marvin Jones, head of the United States delegation and temporary chairman of the conference, to make a request that newsmen be allowed free access to the Homestead Hotel, where all the delegates are housed.

Jones replied he could not change the regulations, but promised to do everything in his power to provide reporters with "full information as to the progress of the conference and as to any action taken by it."

A reporter objected that "no satisfactory explanation yet has been given us as to why armed soldiers bar us from this hotel."

Jones declined to amplify his remarks for publication, but in the course of a sometimes heated exchange of views bejween reporters and officials it was made clear no one in Hot Springs had authority to change the disputed regulation—not even the conference itself.

The higher source responsible for the ban was not named.

The State of Virginia relented to permit the importation of 300 gallons of liquor for the conference. Virginia residents are rationed to two quarts of liquor a month.

The food conference will not open formally until 9 p.m. Tuesday. Tomorrow morning, however, the chairmen of the forty-three governmental delegations will hold an executive meeting to set up a steering committee and elect officers.

U.S. Vessel Sunk

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—The navy said today a small United States merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine early in March in the North Atlantic. Survivors have been landed at New York.

Mrs. R. W. Margetts Pioneer Resident Removed by Death

Mrs. Evangeline Margetts, eighty-two years, wife of Robert W. Margetts, died on Sunday at the family residence, 631 Cornwall Street.

Mrs. Margetts was born in Littleberrington, Gloucestershire, and had been a resident of Victoria for fifty-one years. She was a member of Christ Church Cathedral and a life member of the W.A. Guild of the congregation.

two daughters, Mrs. D. G. Macdowall, in Field, B.C., and Miss Hilda V. Margetts, at home; one son, Robert J. Margetts, 645 Moss Street; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday, leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 9:50 a.m. for Christ Church Cathedral, where service will be conducted by Very Rev. S. H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia, at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Make Appeal for Foreign Maps

The Provincial Library is collaborating with the Army Map Service, Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army, in obtaining topographic maps, aerial photographs and city plans of foreign countries outside North America and the British Isles, to be used for war purposes, it was announced yesterday. Captain Norman F. D'Evelyn, who is in charge of these operations on the Pacific Coast, has recently made his second trip to British Columbia for this purpose and has expressed great appreciation of the co-operation he has received from many sources. Anyone who can provide material or information along this line may be contributing directly and definitely to the war undertaking. Maps that are found useful will be copied and returned to owners if they so desire.

Material sought includes maps ranging from topographic maps of scale 1:1,000,000 (16 miles to 1 inch) or better, to large-scale city maps of 1:25,000 or better. It is important to note material that is specifically not wanted. This includes maps issued by the British and United States Governments or by the National Geographic Society, and small-scale maps.

Rather than send maps immediately to the Provincial Library for examination, it will be preferable to send a list of them with the following information carefully noted for each: Territory or city covered by the map, scale, authority by whom issued or published, date of issue. Any time and trouble taken in providing as complete information as possible about such material, even if it appears to the informant to be of very secondary importance, may have the effect of supplying particulars that will help to place out a complete picture of areas of definite strategic importance. Correspondence should be addressed to the Provincial Library, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C.

Donald Schofield Remains the Same

Although still unconscious after nearly four full days since he was injured last Thursday morning when an army jeep collided with a bicycle on which the boy was riding, David Schofield, fifteen-year-old student of Central Junior High School, was battling gamely for his life at an early hour this morning. His youth and remarkable stamina yet may see him safely through, it was said at the Jubilee Hospital where he is under constant observation day and night, but in the best of circumstances, his condition is critical.

The accident, which cost young Schofield a broken leg and a fracture at the base of the skull, occurred on Yates Street near Vancouver.

The Emperor Claudius Aqueduct, built during the Roman Empire, required a tunnel three and one-half miles long and took 30,000 workers eleven years to complete.

Minister In Conference At Nanaimo

NANAIMO, May 17.—Minister of Mines E. C. Carson believes that perhaps drastic steps must be taken to keep coal mining in progress on Vancouver Island. He was in Nanaimo today attending a conference of coal operators, coal miners, representatives and Government officials. The conference was for the purpose of inquiring into the possibility of continuing the work of mines now in operation, but handicapped by lack of labor, and the opening up of what may prove new producers.

No decision was reached, but the meeting believed the best prospect for more coal in this district was to reopen Morden mine, in Cedar district, which was closed twenty years ago.

Coal operators claim they are at present operating their mines at a loss. They are short of miners, the plan for returning soldiers to the mines who had quit them to join up has not worked out. A man with two or more children, as a soldier, can make more money than he can as a coal miner, said Mr. Carson. He also said that some form of subsidy for operators must be worked out by the Dominion Government. He is leaving on the 26th of this month for Ottawa, where he will consult with Dominion authorities.

Japanese Losses Heavy in Pacific

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP).—Japan has lost almost twice as many ships as the United States in sea battles off the Solomon Islands during the past year, a tabulation of Navy Department announcements showed today.

Japan has had seventy-three ships in various categories sunk as compared with thirty-seven for the United States since May 4, 1942, when Nipponese sailors saw their first eight vessels destroyed in waters adjacent to the Solomons.

United States Navy surface craft have accounted for almost half the Japanese losses. An unofficial count showed surface craft destroyed thirty-four Japanese vessels, "probably" sank four others and damaged sixteen more.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

First Compulsory Employment Transfer Order

NOTICE TO CERTAIN EMPLOYERS AND EMPLOYEES

Notice is hereby given that men employed in certain specified lines of civilian employment, who are in age and marital classes already designated under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, must report for interview not later than May 19th, 1943, to an Employment and Selective Service Office.

A. Objectives

The Order makes available for essential employments the services of men in age and marital classes designated as callable for Military Training under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, who are presently employed in specified non-essential employments.

B. EMPLOYMENTS COVERED BY THIS ORDER:

Men, of the specified categories, are covered if now employed in any of the following industries:

(1) taverns; liquor, wine and beer stores; (2) retail sale of candy, confectionery, tobacco, books, stationery, news; (3) barber shops and beauty parlours; (4) retail and wholesale florists; (5) service stations (gasoline-filling stations); (6) retail sale of motor vehicles or accessories; (7) retail sale of sporting goods or musical instruments.

Also, men are covered if now employed in any of the following occupations, whether in above industries or not:

(1) waiter, taxi driver, elevator operator, hotel bell boy, domestic servant; (2) any occupation in or directly associated with entertainment, including but not restricted to theatres, film agencies, motion picture companies, clubs, bowling alleys, pool rooms; (3) any occupation in or directly associated with dyeing, cleaning, and pressing (not including laundry work); baths; guide service; shoe shining.

C. AGE AND MARITAL CLASSES OF MEN COVERED BY THIS ORDER:

(a) Every man born in any year from 1917 to 1924 (inclusive) who has reached age 19.

(b) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, at July 15th, 1940, was: (i) unmarried; or (ii) divorced or judicially separated; or (iii) a widower without child or children.

(c) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who has, since July 15, 1940, become a widower without child or children now living.

(d) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, since July 15, 1940, has been divorced or judicially separated.

D. Procedure to be Followed:

All men as defined above must report to an Employment and Selective Service Office not later than May 19th, 1943. Men resident outside a city or town having an Employment and Selective Service Office, who are too far removed to call personally, may write to the nearest office in the first instance, and await further directions.

E. OBLIGATIONS OF EMPLOYEES:

When directed to accept employment, subsequent to the interview referred to, men described in Paragraphs B and C above are required by the Regulations to follow the direction given.

F. OBLIGATIONS OF EMPLOYERS:

It will be illegal for an employer to retain in his employ after May 19th, 1943, any men referred to in Paragraph C above, at any of the employments set forth in Paragraph B above, unless a special permit has been obtained from a National Selective Service Officer, permitting such action.

G. Transportation:

Special provisions will be made for the transportation of men moved to work at a new place of residence.

H. Appeals:

If directed to transfer to employment subsequent to interview, a man may, if he objects, enter appeal with a Court of Referees, within 7 days of receiving such direction.

I. Penalties in Case of Employers:

Penalties are provided for any employer who retains in, or takes into, his employ after May 19th, 1943, any man covered by the Order, except under special permit.

J. Penalties in Case of Employees:

Penalties are provided for failure on the part of any employed man affected, to register under this Order, or to follow a subsequent direction to employment, and in addition to other penalties, refusal to comply renders a man liable to compulsory labour service in an Alternative Service Work Camp.

K. Special Request to Employers:

Each employer with three or more men covered by this Order in his employ is requested to co-operate by getting in touch with the Employment and Selective Service Office, to arrange a time for the interviews of his employees.

L. Authority:

This Order is issued under authority conferred on the Minister of Labour by National Selective Service Civilian Regulations (P.C. 246 of January 19th, 1943, and amending Orders in Council).

Men referred to above must present documents at the employment office, indicating compliance with Mobilization Regulations.

THE R.A.F. ATTACK

Damage greater than might be occasioned in a score of individual raids was caused by Royal Air Force planes which smashed breaches in the Mohne and Eder dams, two of the largest in Germany, in daring night attacks on Sunday. Although eight machines were lost in the attacks, destruction and confusion were left behind. Both attacks were pressed home to the spillways of the dams, in the face of stiff anti-aircraft fire.

In the daring and successful exploit, the Royal Air Force broke both reservoirs, and let out their flood waters over wide and highly industrialized areas. Bridges in the Ruhr valley cracked before the flood and several went down. Power stations were destroyed in the resulting wall of water. Freight yards jammed with rolling stock were flooded, and large supplies of war materials spoiled. In the Eder area, the countryside was flooded for several miles.

Reconnaissance machines on Monday showed the havoc created by the two attacks. That in the Ruhr was concentrated and vast. In the Eder region, where the country is flatter, the flood waters had widened into a considerable lake. Meanwhile, power, light, machinery and communications have been obstructed in both areas, in havoc that weeks of repair work will not put right. It was a daring stroke, pressed home by pilots and air-crews who knew the importance of their mission, and one more lesson for Germany that the tide has indeed turned.

CANADA'S SHIPBUILDING POLICY

Mr. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, has been answering questions in Parliament about the future of Canada's merchant marine. He believes that, because of wartime construction, Canada will own 200 merchant ships after the war, but in this estimate he does not allow for losses that may take place. The programme now in progress comprises, in the main, vessels for Great Britain and the United States. The former are being paid for with Canadian money but are chartered by Great Britain, and presumably will be returnable after the war. Mr. Howe says that Canada does not expect to sell outright to the United States many more of the 300 ships she has planned to build. This statement requires some elucidation. There has ben a conception, perhaps a mistaken one, that these ships were being built under the Lend-Lease scheme; in other words, that the United States was paying for them and that they would become American property.

Mr. Howe believes Canada could build faster ships, but he reminds Parliament that to double a ship's speed it is necessary to quadruple its engine power. He says that this country is now turning from the "North Sands" type to the "Victory" type—ships that develop from twelve to thirteen knots and are adequate for the ten-knot convoy, the fastest today. In this respect, of course, Mr. Howe must be speaking of merchant convoys. Troop convoys travel much faster, and that is why troopships escape the U-boat whereas many merchant ships do not. Mr. Howe, too, says that the "Victory" type is the best carrier for war service. That is not the belief of British shipowners who are a unit in the desire for faster vessels, for vessels which will travel in convoy at fifteen knots an hour or more. Mr. Howe says this country, however, is looking ahead and that plans for better and faster ships are being worked out, and such ships could be produced after the war. The answer to this is that it would be far better to have them now, for it would mean that more vessels would escape the submarine menace, and more would be available immediately to take advantage of post-war trade.

Mr. Howe does not say if it is the future intention to have a Government-owned merchant marine. Presumably not, if the experience both in this country and the United States after the Great War is to be any guide as to what should be done. The Government-owned ships then were slow ships and there was little or no demand for them for commercial needs. In every eventuality, it will be exactly the same after the present war. Any governmental venture in trans-ocean trading in peace-time has, up to date, proved a dismal fiasco. The experiment, costly as it was to the taxpayers, should not be repeated by this Dominion. The shipbuilding yards are established in the country, and it is now that action should be in progress to meet the trading needs that will follow the war, and they will be great. The country with the available fastest tonnage will be in the most favorable position in the competition for trade that will follow. Great Britain has now realized this and is building faster vessels, not waiting until the war is over to construct these.

IMPERIALISM

Sir Norman Angell has written a letter to The New York Times in answer to a tendency in the United States seeking, as a condition of wartime co-operation, "to ask for definite undertakings to renounce imperialism." That tendency, Sir Norman says, gives "no equally definite undertakings that the nation making such renunciations will be offered any alternative means of security." Sir Norman's argument, which he then sets forth, is hardly capable of rebuttal in a world as at present constituted. He says:

"In an anarchic world to ask a nation to surrender the empire which alone has given it power to survive as against other imperialisms, without at the same time offering an alternative means of survival, is to ask for suicide, and futile suicide at that. For in the absence of common security the surrender of empire by one nation would simply be the signal for its seizure by another. Can we quite forget when we animadvert upon the imperialist wickedness of Great Britain in having seized Gibraltar and Malta, and exacted rights of occupation in Egypt for the defence of the Suez Canal, and in holding other such positions throughout the world, that if she had not done so, the British communities, not alone in Australia and New Zealand and South Africa, but in Britain itself, would have been overcome? Can we—and ought we to—forget that the type of imperialism which insured the early co-operation in the war of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Palestine, Malta, has saved perhaps half the earth from the clutches of Hitler and Hirohito? If we would get rid of imperialism we must get rid of the anarchy which gives rise to it by organizing a system of peace and security; and at this stage that objective must come first on the agenda, and the great Powers must make plain that this time they mean it."

ITALY'S DILEMMA

Growing nervousness on the part of Italy and her leaders in this war can be appreciated when one considers her exact position under the demonstrated facts of modern warfare. The whole of Italy, from the Swiss border to the Gulf of Taranto, is now within 600 miles bombing range of Bizerte. Sardinia and Sicily have shrunk to within 200 miles of the same point, by air; while Malta, of course, is much closer to these possessions of the enemy.

The practical application o fthat can be seen immediately. Two hundred miles is within shuttle-bombing range of United Nations holdings in North Africa. Six hundred miles is a three-hour outbound journey for the heaviest bombers, with their largest loads. The air bracket on Italy is so complete that it now covers her entire littoral; every seaport on both east and west coasts, every factory or munitions plant anywhere on Italian, Sicilian or Sardinian soil. They are all in the front line now.

What can be said of the potentialities of air attack is bound up with what is happening to Italy on the water. The United Nations, if they wish, could put every Italian port out of commission indefinitely, and do that inside the space of one week. What is left of the Italian fleet has been rendered virtually homeless; unless it flees to German protection at Toulon. At sea or in port, all units of that fleet are now within air range by day or by night.

While it is too late in this conflict to accept rumors for facts, there is much ground to believe that Mussolini's "eight million bayonets" are of very little comfort to him now. On the home front the Italian civilian has shown but little relish for this war. How he will endure the front line prominence of his native land remains to be seen. In Tunisia, the resurgence of the French Army must be giving Rome many qualms.

OBSERVANCE OF VICTORIA DAY

There are evidences throughout the country of non-agreement with the Federal Government's attempt to wipe out May 24 as a public holiday. In this Province the day is to be observed as usual. It is to be observed, too, in many other parts of Canada, including Ottawa, which indicates that the Government's authority in a matter of this character does not run in the capital. The fact is that custom and tradition are stronger than governmental decrees. It has become a part of the life of the country to observe Victoria Day. Ottawa, perhaps, now realizes that it made a mistake, when it decided to curtail public holidays, in including May 24. That date has been observed as one of celebration for so long, for decades in fact, that there is a feeling in the public mind that it cannot be lightly thrown overboard.

It is true that the holiday should not be allowed to interfere with the carrying on of essential war industries, but there does not seem any reason whatever why non-essential work should not be suspended as in the past. The tendency is, indeed, for less work to be done in non-essential industries and businesses, as witness the growing disposition to close retail stores all day on Wednesdays with the object of conserving diminishing stocks. It now seems that Victoria Day this year will be pretty widely observed in Canada. That it may not be wholly observed could give rise to some confusion, and, in that case, it will become the duty of the Dominion Government to revise its decree as to what should and what should not be public holidays in a national sense.

HOLLYWOOD GETS THE CREDIT

It was hoped that the first film of a major character staged on Vancouver Island—"Commandos Strike at Dawn"—would prove of some advertising value to this part of the Empire. It was felt that it would draw attention, wherever it is shown, to the troops stationed in this quarter of the world at war, to the naval units here, and, apart from these features, to the nature of the scenery on the western shores of Canada. It was thought, in fact, that such a film staged here and the possibilities for the industry because of its popularity would command attention, the result of which might well inure to the advantage of Vancouver Island. Apparently whoever has control of the publicity for the film must have omitted to note the point of its origin, for a few weeks ago it was shown for the first time in London, where it is described by The Times as "the most sober reconstruction of the war in Europe, as it was two years ago, which has yet come out of Hollywood." In all that is said of it there is no mention of the armed forces taking part being Canadian. It is regarded as simply another Hollywood production, and as such has been presented to English audiences.

GOLD STAR MOTHER

Some wonder that I do not yield to tears
But tears, to me, would be a badge of shame;
And, though my sorrow like a fire sears,
I must prove worthy of a mother's name

What mockery would be a world's acclaim
If I—his mother—only bowed and wept
If my sole tribute to his deathless fame
Was a frail spirit by vain grieving swept!

How meaningless would seem the price he paid
For hero-medals placed upon his breast,
If I shed tears that could not be allayed
And failed to meet a mother's crucial test!

To honor him, I know I must be strong.
No tribute would mean more to him than mine.
A smile—not tears! Instead of sighs, a song!
He then will know my heart, his living shrine.

—L. E. Thayer, in The New York Times.

ULTIMATE HOPE

The morning was come of a mighty day—a day of trials and of ultimate hope for human nature, then suffering mysterious eclipse, and laboring in some dread extremity. . . . A battle, a strife, an agony, was traveling through all its stages—was evolving itself, like the catastrophe of some mighty drama. Some greater interest was at stake, some mightier cause, than ever yet the sword had pleaded or the trumpet proclaimed.—De Quincey.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

THE WEEK

Western Front—With the North African front liquidated and 175,000 unwounded German and Italian prisoners in Allied hands, one to two months earlier than the most optimistic forecasts on our side, Berlin displayed gloom; London and New York newspapers spoke of German preparations for a final throw at Russia in June; telling of troop movements and concentrations of machines, without official confirmation. Martial law was proclaimed over much of occupied Europe, with riots, executions and arrests at many points. British and United States air forces staged still heavier blows against Germany. British and Canadian machines dropped more than 1,500 tons of bombs on Duisburg in one of the most concentrated raids of the war. Thirty-four planes did not return. British machines struck twice in diversionary raids on Berlin, while pounding the Ruhr and other targets as far east as Czecho-Slovakia. R.A.F. night crews were out again at the week-end in two daring assaults on Germany's largest power dams, both of which were breached. United States machines reached their heaviest concentration over Emden in a saturation raid. They followed this by hard attacks on Kiel, Antwerp, Velsen and points in occupied lands. By day and by night, Allied fighter and intruder groups were active over the Channel, from Norway to the south of France. The Luftwaffe replied in several in-and-out raids on the east and southeast coasts with fighter-bombers, doing some damage, and losing a number of machines. Seven enemy planes were mentioned as the largest enemy formation. Prime Minister Churchill arrived at Washington, D.C., accompanied by Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell, Admiral Sir James Somerville, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, all of the Middle East Command. Staff talks followed. Canada carried her fourth wartime loan over the top, with subscriptions exceeding $1,100,000,000 in twenty-one days. In Great Britain the Home Guard was honored. They mounted guard at Buckingham Palace in the presence of Their Majesties; and were praised by Mr. Churchill in a trans-Atlantic speech. The Admiralty announced the destruction of four U-boats and damage to six others in a recent convoy attack, which was repelled. One British destroyer was conceded lost in action, elsewhere. British patrol boats prowled the opposite coast from Norway to Holland, and scored in several light brushes with the enemy. German Channel guns fired briefly at mid-week. Two men were awarded the Victoria Cross. One was Lieut.-Col. Derek Anthony Seagrim, of the Green Howards, who died from wounds in Tunisia after conspicuous gallantry in action at the Mareth Line. The other was Sergeant Parkash Singh, of the Indian Army, who won his award for valor in the Burma campaign.

Eastern Front — The frost line crept northward into central zones, presaging the approach of the next campaigns. Both sides stepped warily. Russians pounded doggedly at the Novorossisk defences, and at the last holdings of the enemy in the Northwestern Caucasus. Behind the lines, their planes rapped at Gomel, Orel, Kiev, Bryansk and Warsaw, leaving fires at rail assembly points behind the German lines. German resistance stiffened, although their retreat in the Caucasus was still being forced by pressure, coupled with repeated air attacks. Late in the week the Germans made a demonstration in force in the Leningrad zone; pushing infantry and tanks into seven successive assaults, which failed. The line as a whole, however, was unchanged, save for Russian infiltration and gains in the Novorossisk area. Foreign correspondents from neutral points asserted the Germans were preparing for a final, desperate attempt to crack the Russian armies. Meanwhile, Russian commanders, who had whittled the enemy out of most of his 1942 gains, held on to all positions won. Shelling and patrol action were reported in both the north and the south as the period ended.

Southern Front—The full rewards of a smashing victory came to the United Nations in Tunisia. The last phases of the battle saw the British First Army cut its way across the neck of the Cap Bon peninsula, bottling up the main body of the enemy. Fighting French units demand, and accept, the surrender of 25,000 Axis prisoners in the hills before Zaghouan, and the collapse of all enemy resistance in North Africa. Von Arnim and seventeen Axis generals, more than 175,000 unwounded prisoners, and vast stores of field equipment fell into Allied hands. Tens of thousands of Germans threw down their arms, and drove themselves into Allied prisoner camps in their own vehicles, surrendering to cooks, batmen, photographers or anyone who would accept their arms. It was a United Nations victory, and one shared in by all arms of the services. By land, sea and air the last of the Axis forces in North Africa was surrounded and captured, after an attack which had lasted approximately seventy-two hours. British and United States air forces shifted their attack to the Mediterranean isles and Italy. Pantelleria saw 100-plane raids. Catania, Palermo and other coast bases around Sardinia and Sicily were struck, without any attempt at reply. Italy, from Reggio and Taranto in the south; to west coast ports north of Rome, came under direct and sustained air attack. The naval blockade equalled that in the air. So far as it is known, not a single sizable vessel made its way out of any Tunisian harbor in the final week. For hundreds of miles in width the Western Mediterranean was our sea, and not the enemy's. The whole of Italy came within Allied bombing ranges, from multiple bases on the African shore. Both strategically and tactically, the United Nations victory was complete, and shattering to the enemy. King George commended all Allied units in the field, and sent special congratulations to Mr. Churchill and to General Eisenhower.

Other Fronts—In the Middle East, while staff talks continued at Washington, there was patrol action in Burma, with some exchanges on the ground. The Japanese, seeking to retrieve ground lost in the campaign, made some headway at Buthidaung in the Mayu River area. Light British forces withdrew at Maungdaw at the end of the week, but maintained a persistent and steady air bombardment of enemy positions and bases, in which both British and United States machines participated. The Japanese stalemate in China remained unchanged, with the Chinese responding vigorously to every move made by the enemy in four separate zones. In the Pacific itself, there were two movements. Japanese planes attacked Bobdubi and Wau, south of Salamaua, in force with 100 machines, using dive-bombers and fighters. A forty-five-plane raid by the enemy on Oro Bay was turned aside, with sixteen Japanese machines downed and six others damaged. The New Guinea attack was new. It seemed to suggest concern by the enemy for his ground position at Salamaua. In the Aleutians, United States troops, with naval and air support, landed suddenly on Attu Island, westward from the enemy's base at Kiska Island. Stiff fighting followed on the beaches and in the rocky interior, fighting in which it was officially announced firm progress was being made by the landing parties. The attack seemed to be aimed at occupation, which would put a bracket on Kiska Island (eastward again from which the Allies have taken up positions on Amchitka Island, sixty-three miles distant), and fighting spread into its fifth day as the period ended. Details, however, were withheld. In the global conflict, the world had reached a lull before possibly its greatest storm, the main campaigns of 1943.

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 600 words in length.

A CORRECTION

Sir,—In my letter on fruit canning without sugar, in Sunday's issue of The Colonist, instead of one cupful, it should read one-half cupful of sugar to a quart of canned fruit. (Mrs.) GEORGE CARTER.

80 King George Terrace, Oak Bay, B.C., May 16, 1943.

FOR PEDESTRIANS

Sir,—It would seem that, seeing the army uses Richmond Road so much, there could be a strip of the old airfield, say about eight feet, conditioned and used as a sidewalk, as there is no place for one on the east side. The B.C. Electric has that and it is very dangerous for anyone walking along Richmond, especially for a woman with a baby carriage. Our authorities should see to the safeguard for pedestrians.

W. P. CLARK.

1817 Neil Avenue, Victoria, B.C., May 17, 1943.

"PERJURY"

Sir,—Is it monstrous that it is British law that a defendant may safely, in committing "perjury and fraud" be left unharmed, always provided the prosecution, at the time, fails to challenge or offer any rebuttal evidence in his pleadings? It all does not make sense—however, it seems to be the law, but is it the law, or shall fair play and common sense prevail? Let us plead that the defendant's evidence is not challenged at the time of giving, nor is rebuttal evidence then available, because all the documents are in possession of the defendant. Yet, on the other hand, the plaintiff, though perfectly satisfied in his own mind, necessarily must allow a lapse of time before getting the conviction evidence intact—only to discover he is barred from further procedure in the said British courts of justice! Or, is he? May one cordially invite any duly qualified legal practitioner, anywhere in the British Commonwealth, to publish a considered opinion elucidating the seemingly nonsensical facts here humbly set forth? H. F. WINSBY.

Dr. Paul R. Cannon, chairman of the Department of Pathology of the University of Chicago, writes in The Star Weekly: "Gone are the so-called humanitarian principles of former wars. In the grim struggle of this war little mercy can be shown those not on the active field of battle, for modern war attempts by land, sea and air to bring starvation to the foe and thereby break his will to fight. And to the extent that total war accomplishes these things it means famine, mass malnutrition and pestilence. Total war brings hunger, disease and death to friend and foe alike. When this war ends, famine may develop more devastating than the world has ever known. Some 500,000,000 persons will be short of food, many millions desperately so. If food is not secured for all these hungry people, the turbulent forces of revolution, unemployment, suspicion and hate will speedily prepare the soil for future wars." . . . From a city official: "People of Canada were pleased and surprised one day to receive news that they could secure an extra pound of sugar for rhubarb, but were later dismayed to learn only ten pounds of sugar per person would be allowed for making jam and preserving fruit. Sugar cards printed at Ottawa made provision for twenty-five pounds of sugar per person. Most of the sugar in British Columbia will be purchased in June during the berry season, and grocers will be flooded with orders. Thousands of volunteer workers throughout Canada received and handled extra sugar applications, and it must have cost the Government $250,000 for its part. It appears work of the many local ration boards was unnecessary. Present ration books contain a number of extra coupons, and it would have been easy for the Government to designate some of them for extra sugar. . . . From Tobacconist Martin: "Juke boxes which abound in restaurants and lunch counters should each contain a blank record. Many of us would gladly drop a nickel to enjoy a few minutes of peace and quiet while eating." A Civil War veteran aged 102 years was asked the standard question at Oakland, Cal.: "To what do you attribute your longevity?" He is reported to have replied: "To the fact that I have never died."

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Half Million Now in France—With more than 500,000 men now in France, army officials are more than ever hopeful that a powerful American force will be co-operating with the Allies there by the end of the year. It was not possible tonight to obtain specific confirmation of the report from Paris that 1,500,000 fighting troops before January 1 had been promised. Under the authority sought by President Wilson to organize as large an army as it is found possible to train, equip and transport, it is known that officials expect at least 3,000,000 men to be under arms during the next twelve months.

Composite Photograph—Mr. Skene Lowe, photographer, of Government Street, yesterday placed on exhibition at his studio one of the handsomest composite photographs yet seen in British Columbia, the twenty-two gentlemen in the group being the members of the Bank of British Columbia staff in this city. The natural and harmonious arrangement of the various figures is particularly creditable to the artist, who is the only one in this province to make a specialty of this class of work.

Keeping Cool

(From The Times, London)

"Are you going my way?" a deep voice was heard to call from a raft in mid-Atlantic. It was some time before the men in the ship, who had to reckon with a heavy swell, a dark night, and a lurking enemy submarine, were able to haul the nonchalant survivor aboard, but while they labored to reach him he continued to display an imperturbability which extorted the almost awe-struck admiration of his rescuers. The solitary voyager wanted to know whither the ship was [illegible] destination was Canada, turned Canada over in his mind and shouted back that it would do. Watching the patient attempts to get close to his curious raft he opined that the Good Samaritans would, unless they struck a more direct course, "turn themselves out of gas." The wit is obviously not of the first water, but on the lips of a man who has been adrift for eight long hours and is still in dire peril it may fairly be accounted a first class certificate of imperturbability. And there is nothing which men are more prone to admire than equanimity in desperately adverse circumstances. It is a grace which nature bestows with a sparing but catholic hand. Wellington, galloping Copenhagen about the field of Waterloo as though superintending a point-to-point meeting, had received it; so also has Grandmamma, who, while the house still rocks to the crash of a bomb, recollects the letter which she has forgotten to post. "Be nonchalant," advised a once familiar American advertisement which went with the picture of a young woman contriving to look pretty and cool merely by lighting a certain brand of cigarette. It is something we have all at some time or other wished in vain to be.

There is no saying precisely in what this virtue consists, but it is instantly recognizable. The unheroic may feel shame in the presence of heroism and are apt to curse the reckless daring which calls on them to follow where they dare not. But true equanimity is never anything but a comfort, and a man must indeep be weak who cannot draw from its "ruling effluence" strength and an accession of sanity. It would be ingracious to inquire if it is more than a temperamental idiosyncrasy flourishing on a healthy nervous equilibrium. When it appears in the hour of need it is invariably welcomed as a deep-seated serenity which is proof against the worst that fate can do. It is not a grace to be depreciated in days like the present when the routine of life may be on a sudden shattered. In any emergency there is a tendency to go to extremes. There are those who delight in the sense of being projected into the unknown, who, seemingly in a trance of open-armed self-surrender, are capable of deliberately prolonging their uncertainties, happy-starred spirits who apprehend and savor romance at the very moment of its impact upon their lives. Their opposites in temperament grope their way painfully, making sure of as much as they can as quickly as they can. To them the sense of romance comes only in retrospect and then they marvel that they should have found the power to face forward through the uncharted haze. These extremists may be baffling company for the rest of us. It is to the truly imperturbable that we shall turn, trusting them to make terms alike with rash ardors and galling timidities, hoping, too, that even on a raft in an angry sea proof of their profound sanity will appear in a jest of sorts. Them we shall wear in the heart's core.

SAILOR MAROONED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 17 (AP)—Camp Chaffee, Ark., troops were credited with scores of rescues during last week's floods, but a detachment of Chaffee armored troops got their biggest kick out of one made in Little Rock's East End. Their chagrined beneficiary was a sailor—marooned with his parents while on furlough at their home.

Offer Prayers for Victory in Tunisia

Special prayers of thankfulness for the victory at Tunisia went up from churches throughout Greater Victoria on Sunday in compliance with an order by His Majesty the King. Music and sermons were keyed to victory and thankfulness at morning and evening services.

At Christ Church Cathedral, Very Rev. S. H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia, offered up special prayers at both Sunday services, and similar observances took place at other Anglican churches in the city and district.

A special thanksgiving service was held Sunday night at St. Andrew's Cathedral in presence of the bishop. The rosary was said for the Allied soldiers who had fallen in the course of the struggle for North Africa. Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given by Msgr. A. G. Baker, V.G., who also said the public prayers for victory.

With many of the ministers of the United churches absent at the British Columbia conference being held in Vancouver, guest speakers filled the pulpits at several churches. Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, D.D., of Toronto, secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada, conducted the morning service at First United, and preached the evening sermon at Metropolitan.

In the Presbyterian, Baptist and churches of other denominations, similar prayers of thankfulness were said for the great victory achieved by the Allied troops.

Tell-Tale Tatooing

(From The Times, London)

From one of our prisoners of war lately exchanged with the Italians comes a story which illustrates how a man's virtues can sometimes be called in evidence against him. A gunner and a companion, in an attempt to escape posed as Germans, but, after the local carabinieri had held them at a police station for two and a half hours their imposture was exposed by the discovery that the gunner's friend had "Rule, Britannia!" tattooed across his chest. Here indeed avowed patriotism met with something less than its reward, and the hero's gallant proclamation of faith became the cause of his undoing. Tattoo marks have the embarrassing quality of enduring, but it is usually fickleness rather than constancy which gets into trouble those who entrust their bodies to the tattooist. "The practice of tattooing is very common in the navy," wrote Marryat, and there is truly a suggestion in the very word of rollicking sailors with wives in every port, of "characters" out of W. W. Jacobs rather than Conrad, genial souls whose arms and chests serve as the trees served Orlando and form the background for a generous allegatory design, a riot of initials and pierced hearts.

The very permanence of the pledge of affection might seem at first sight to argue steadfastness of character, but all too often it is proof of a rash and thoughtless disposition which takes no heed for the morrow or any shifting in the winds of circumstance or love. "And you have been most intimately associated with someone whose initials were J.A., and whom you afterwards were eager to entirely forget," said Sherlock Holmes, gaining an effect out of all proportion to the merits of one of his simplest and earliest exercises in deduction, and indeed a tattoo mark affords a clue which even Watson himself would find some difficulty in overlooking.

What is rash in relation to individuals, however, becomes entirely laudable when applied to one's country, and fortune played the gunner's friend a scurvy trick when she allowed the Italians to discover the artistic decoration on his chest. For this sturdy patriot naturalization papers might have never been invented. He, like Ralph Rackstraw, remained an Englishman, and was not afraid to leave his preference boldly and permanently on record.

STUDIES COAL AREAS

According to Culbertson

Whenever declarer is under the necessity of developing several suits, especially "broken" suits, he should consider the possibility of elimination and throw-in plays. Naturally the prerequisite of this type of play is plenty of trumps in both hands—in short, just such a layout as South faced in the following deal.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ A 8 7
♦ J 5 4
♣ A 10 6

WEST
♠ K 9 8
♥ Q J 10 5
♦ 10 8 6

EAST
♠ Q
♥ K 6 5 2
♦ K 8 3 2
♣ Q 5 4 2

SOUTH
♠ 10 7 5 3 2
♦ A Q 7
♣ K 9 8

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the heart queen and, before playing from either hand, declarer took stock. This inventory was not too reassuring. In addition to the unavoidable heart loser in the combined hands there also were "holes" in the other three suits.

Following the principles of sound technique, declarer permitted the heart queen to hold. West, continued with the jack. The ace won and now declarer ruffed dummy's remaining heart to eliminate that suit as a safe means of exit for the opponents when they should take the lead. His next move was to tackle the trump department. With the K-Q-9-8 missing, it was impossible to know just what line of play would hold the opponents to one trump trick, since that depended entirely on how the outstanding trumps were divided. After profound thought, however, declarer settled on a plan that gave him an excellent chance. He led low from his own hand and, when West played the eight spot, put in dummy's jack.

As will be seen, East, after winning with the blank queen, was forced to make a return lead that was bound to benefit the declarer. It should also be observed, however, that declarer's play would have been equally effective if East had held the Q-x of spades, because in that case his normal spade return would guarantee declarer against a second trump loser.

As the play actually developed, East led back a low diamond. This was allowed to ride to dummy's jack, the spade ace was cashed, and a second diamond finesse was taken to the queen. Now, after cashing the diamond ace, declarer threw West in with the spade king, and, on West's club return, found it easy to shut out any loser in the club suit.

"Combined Operations," New Book, Tells Whole Story of Dieppe Raid

By GILLIS PURCELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE first studied story of the "reconnaissance in force" at Dieppe last August, which claimed 3,350 Canadian casualties in an eight-hour attack on the German-held French coast, is published today in "Combined Operations," the official story of the Commandos.

More than one-fifth of the 155-page book by Hilary St. George Saunders, currently the world's best-selling author, is devoted to a recital of the Dieppe operation. He outlines the military objectives of the attack in far greater detail than ever before made public.

Like "Battle of Britain," "Bomber Command" and the rest of the wartime booklets which have pushed Saunders' sales record close to the twelve-million mark, "Combined Operations" does not bear the name of the author. Still assistant librarian of the British House of Commons, he is fully occupied these days with the duties of his official authorship.

LISTS EXACT OBJECTIVES OF RAID

For the first time, Saunders lists the exact objectives which each component of the attacking force at Dieppe sought to achieve. Unfortunately only one of the ten major units engaged—seven of them Canadian—was able to carry out its assignment with complete success. This was No. 4 Commando.

Saunders' book is chapter after exciting chapter of the achievements of the commandos—at Lofoten, Vaagso, Bruneval, St. Nazaire, Diego Suarez. He fills it with maps and photographs which, with his simple, unheroic writing, resolve stirring news stories of the war into the calmer perspective of history. But Canadians will read his book because of what he says of Dieppe.

Speaking of the results of the Dieppe operation, the forty-five-year-old veteran of the first Great War says:

"Two (results) were outstanding. In the first place we learned much about the German defences in the West. In the second place, and of still greater value, was the first-hand experience we acquired of the conditions which may be met with in a large-scale assault on a strongly held Channel port. The details of these experiences must not be revealed. The enemy will know in due course how we have profited by them.

CULMINATING POINT IN A SERIES

"While the Dieppe raid was an indispensable prelude for what was to take place later, in a sense it was also the culminating point in the series of reconnaissances of which some account has now been given. Certain of the results achieved became visible later when a combined operation on a much larger scale was successfully launched; others will appear in the major assaults to come."

Here is the manner in which Saunders lists the objectives of the three-pronged Dieppe land attack, divided into two flanking operations and the main assault.

WEST FLANK

Outer Flank—No. 4 Commando to strike at Verengeville and the mouth of the River Saane and destroy the coast defence batteries of 5.9 guns.

Inner Attack—South Saskatchewan Regiment to capture Pourville and a similar headland overlooking Dieppe on the west, destroying en the way a radio-location station and a battery of light anti-aircraft guns. Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg, then to pass through the town into the valley of the Scie River and capture the air field of St. Aubin, four miles inland.

EAST FLANK

Inner Attack—Royal Regiment of Canada to land at Puits, seize a coast defence battery situated some distance inland, and capture the headland overlooking Dieppe on the east.

Outer Attack—No. 3 Commando to strike at Berneval and Belleville-Sur-Mer and destroy the coast defence batteries of 5.9 guns.

MAIN ASSAULT

Royal Hamilton Light Infantry to land on western half of the long beach fronting the Esplanade.

Essex Scottish Regiment to land on eastern half of beach.

Tanks of 14th Canadian Army Tank Battalion (Calgary Regiment) to be put ashore as soon as the beach had been cleared, to enter the town and support the infantry in seizing it, and holding it while various objectives were being blown up. These objectives included harbor, marshaling yards, gasworks, power station petrol dumps and a pharmaceutical factory.

Fusiliers Mont-Royal to wait out at sea as a floating reserve, backed by the Royal Marine Commando in small fast motorboats manned by the Fighting French.

These forces, plus a detachment of American Rangers, moved across the Channel to the French Coast in the early morning of August 19 in a flotilla of more than 200 vessels. It included eight destroyers, motor gunboats and motor launches escorting the carrying and landing craft. H.M.S. Calpe was headquarters ship, H.M.S. Fernie reserve headquarters.

"YOU can't equal a good pot of Pork and Beans made with Mustard and salt pork," says Mrs. Frank A. Cuthbertson of Moncton, N.B. "I always add a little pure mustard and a dash of ginger, if I have it, to my beans. The best way to make them is to soak them in water overnight, or, if one is in a hurry, the beans can be parboiled before baking." The other ingredients are as follows:

BAKED BEANS

2 cups beans, soaked in water
½ cup golden molasses (or ⅓ cupful darker molasses and two tablespoonfuls of corn syrup)
½ tsp. mustard
1 small pinch ginger
¼ lb. salt pork (or bacon)
3 cups water or enough to cover beans well.
½ tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper

Soak beans overnight, and boil until tender. Drain and mix with other ingredients. Cover and bake in a slow oven—250-275 degrees Fahrenheit—for several hours until tender. Before serving, increase the heat in the oven.

Mrs. Cuthbertson says, "It pays to use the best mustard when you are cooking because so much depends upon the flavour which the mustard seems to bring out."

When ordering mustard be sure to specify Colman's—the purest form of mustard obtainable. Colman's Mustard is made entirely from highest quality mustard seed.

THE SECRET OF FOOD FLAVOUR

Mustard was originally used as a condiment. Now it is one of the most important spices not only for bringing out a rich flavour in baked beans, but for giving pickles and salad dressings a zest and tang that stimulates the most jaded appetite and aids digestion too. For preparing leftover meats it is almost indispensable.

Invaders Continue Efforts in China

CHUNGKING, May 17 (AP).—Japanese efforts to break into China's rice bowl continued with the invaders intensifying their onslaughts west of Tungting Lake in North Hunan Province, the High Command indicated today.

A communique said the Chinese repelled all enemy attempts to take the strategically important towns of Taingshih, whose loss would interfere seriously with existing communications between Hunan and Szechwan.

Meanwhile the Japanese striking westward from Kungan, newly occupied key point in South Hupeh, succeeded in advancing, the communique said.

London Papers Say Berlin to Abandon Italy

Report Nazi Officials And Gestapo Leaving

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—Two London dailies reported this morning that Hitler is preparing to abandon Italy to her fate, leaving her to face the threat of Allied invasion unaided.

A front-page story by The Daily Mail's diplomatic correspondent, headlined "Hitler Withdrawing From Italy," said German officials and Gestapo men now are returning to Germany and there were unmistakable signs that Nazi troops in Italy might soon withdraw, establishing defences at Brenner Pass.

Earlier, the Morocco and Algiers radios reported what they termed "a sensational rumor" in Rome that King Victor Emmanuel would abdicate in favor of Crown Prince Humbert. Rumors of imminent invasion are sweeping through Italy, said the broadcast, heard by the Ministry of Information.

The Morocco radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission in New York, said in a Berne dispatch that the King "is alleged to have abdicated, and the Roman Cabinet to have offered its resignation to Mussolini, who refused it."

DISCOUNT OF ABDICATION

Qualified London sources took scant stock in the abdication rumor, adding that the King's prestige now is higher than at any time since the Fascist march on Rome in 1922. It was recalled that Rome radio accounts of the final fighting in Tunisia closed with "Long live the King—Long live Italy," conspicuously omitting Mussolini's name.

The Daily Mail story declared it "seems fairly certain that Hitler is getting ready to leave Mussolini and his gang in the lurch in the same way that Rommel deserted his Italian colleagues on the desert.

"It is regarded as significant that the Germans have not paid anything more than lip service to their partner since the Axis defeat in Africa," it said. "There has been no declaration of continued solidarity as one would have expected."

MIGHT BE PART OF PLAN

On the other hand, the withdrawal might be part of a German plan "to allow Italy to sue for peace to arouse the sympathy of the world" in the hope that "there then might be a real chance for success of a cunning Hitler peace offensive," The Mail added.

The Daily Herald's "Inside Europe" correspondent said that Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels had warned Italy that she would have to assume full responsibility for defending her mainland. It termed the article the first of a series of "It's Up to Italy" statements.

The Morocco radio, commenting on a German Trans-Ocean Agency report that Archbishop Francis J. Spellman, of New York, soon will visit Rome again, said today the visit was connected with the probable succession to the Italian throne of Prince Humbert and the appointment of Marshal Pietro Badoglio to a high government post.

Would Defeat Japanese Now

U.S. Senator Fears May Be Left Alone

WASHINGTON, May 17 (CP).—A demand by Senator Albert Chandler (Dem., Ky.) for a major change in war strategy, immediate diversion of American military might to defeat Japan now, was made in the Senate today.

"I say that we'd better whip the Japs now while we have the Allies than try to when we may have none later on," Chandler asserted.

"Although Russia is our partner, there is no showing thus far that she is ever going to fight the Japs," Chandler declared, adding:

"We may expect at least a partial demobilization of the British after the defeat of Germany and we have the right to ask ourselves now what help we can expect from Britain."

Senator Burton Wheeler predicted that the defeat of Germany would find England busy in Europe and Russia trying to rehabilitate herself.

"In my judgment," the Montanan added, "the United States is going to be left to fight the Japanese."

MIGHT HAVE BEEN DIFFERENT

Senator Lister Hall of Alabama, the acting majority leader, said it was entirely possible that if American troops had not been sent to North Africa, the Germans could have kept enough men and equipment in Russia to force the Soviets to weaken their armies in Siberia, with the result that Japan might have moved in there.

Senator James Tunnell (Dem., Del.) said he did not think that the Allied leaders were working primarily for their own country's interests but for the "common cause" of the Allies.

Chandler said he was informed that an army of 2,000,000 British soldiers was in India, and was being held out of Burma by 60,000 Japanese.

"Apparently no determined effort has been made by the British to drive the Japanese out of Burma," He had heard, he said, that the British had feared a possible uprising in India.

"But 2,000,000 men ought to quell any uprising in India and the Japs too," he added.

Enemy Ship Losses Heavy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, May 17 (AP).—Seventy-one vessels were sunk, 103 probably sunk and 120 damaged by Northwest African air force units from November 8, 1942, to May 13, it was announced today.

The announcement listed a number of warships in the toll, including a cruiser, an escort vessel and three destroyers sunk, two cruisers, four destroyers and four escort vessels probably sunk and two cruisers and another escort vessel damaged.

Of the others, ranging upward from small motor vessels, four cargo liners—two of them used as troop transports—were described as probably sunk.

See Nazi Defence Works on Coast

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—In the unusually clear weather today, hastily-constructed German defence works could be seen plainly in the Calais and the Cap Gris Nez sector of the French coast by observers on Britain's southeast chalk cliffs.

The defences, described by the observers as sporting much new construction since the last perfect day of visibility several months ago, were scarred like England's coastal towns during the invasion threat days.

Slopes running down to the sea between Calais and Cape Blanc showed trench lines and pillboxes.

Hawthorne Track Opens

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP).—Disregarding adverse weather, 8,000 turf followers poured from public transportation conveyances today to herald start of Chicago's major horse racing season at Hawthorne. The sport will be a Summer-long affair here.

Attendance was regarded as exceptional. Approximately $300,000 was fed to the mutuels today.

Armstrong Matched

PHILADELPHIA, May 17 (AP).—Continuing his comeback campaign, Henry Armstrong will battle Maxie Shapiro, of New York, in a scheduled ten-round bout at Convention Hall May 24, Promoter Herman Taylor announced today.

GIANTS CALL UP REYES

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP).—New York Giants made a move tonight to round up some batting punch by calling up Napoleon Reyes, Cuban infielder, from their Jersey City farm club in the International League.

Reyes will take over first base for the Giants tomorrow against Cincinnati Reds, replacing Joe Orengo.

A farmer had a son at college. At the end of the first year the son came home in high feather. He stood second in his class.

"Second?" said the father. "Second! Why didn't you stand first? What do you think I'm sending you to college for?"

The young man returned for his second year, determined to win first place. At the end of the year he returned home and announced his success to his father.

The father looked at him for a few minutes in silence, then shrugged his shoulders, and said: "At the head of the class, eh? Well, it can't be much of a college, after all."

"I say, my dear," said an ex-soldier the morning after the regimental reunion, "I seem to have got an enormous blister on my tongue."

"What do you expect?" replied his wife. "You would insist on drinking my health out of your hot water bottle last night."

U.S. Advisor Of W.I.B. to Quit June 30

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Leo Casey, American adviser in New York of the Wartime Information Board, has resigned to take another position, it was announced today by John Grierson, general manager of the board. The resignation is effective June 30.

Mr. Casey joined the W.I.B. staff in September last year. He was [illegible] York World's Fair and a public relations adviser to Wendell Willkie, the United States presidential candidate.

Mr. Casey was paid a salary of $12,000 in United States funds when he joined the board. In a recent statement on the board's operations Mr. Grierson indicated a readjustment of that salary was being made.

Later today Mr. Grierson said Mr. Casey will not be replaced—that the special post he held was being abolished.

That Body of Yours

WAR AND THE DIABETIC

Now that diabetics have learned how to take care of themselves at all times, having always on hand their supply of insulin, the question arises as to whether diabetics should be allowed to serve their country anywhere and everywhere.

In Great Britain, apparently, diabetics are allowed to serve on foreign battlefronts. Thus an interesting letter from an English army officer to his doctor in England is reported in Diabetic Digest. The letter states the officer's experiences in a frontier campaign in which the active exercise enabled him to greatly reduce his dose of insulin. He was then sent to Egypt and went through two campaigns in the desert, but lack of sleep (only five to six hours in the twenty-four) and a slight wound caused collapse—the insulin had gradually lost some of its strength. He was then transferred to a "quieter" job.

As diabetics read the above, many of them may feel that they would like to try active service as did this man. What they may forget is that this man was an officer and states that he would hide while injecting the insulin. "I was never seen giving myself an injection."

The United States Army regulations do not allow diabetics to be drafted. In view of this British officer's usefulness to the army diabetics on this side of the Atlantic may wonder why the regulations omit their names from the draft of those of military age.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association Dr. E. P. Joslin, Boston, America's outstanding authority on diabetes, states that the hazards that the diabetic would undergo, and the care each diabetic might require from doctors, nurses and fellow soldiers is so great, and the need for their services in civilian occupations, where they would be less exposed to complications, so apparent, that the present rule to omit them from the draft seems proper.

However, the diabetic can well serve his country by taking up first aid work and acting as an air raid warden.

In fact, the Red Cross will gladly accept blood from a diabetic for their Blood Banks as presence or absence of increased sugar in the blood does not affect the value of the blood for Red Cross purposes.

A man motoring along a country road offered a stranger a lift. The stranger accepted. Shortly afterwards the motorist noticed that his watch was missing.

Whipping out a revolver, he dug it into the other man's ribs and exclaimed: "Hand over that watch!"

The stranger complied meekly before allowing himself to be booted out of the car. When the motorist returned home he was greeted by his wife.

"How did you get on without your watch?" she asked. "I suppose you know that you left it on your dressing table?"

Flyers Tell Of Effects Of Dam Raid

Spout of Water Went Up 300 Feet at Mohne

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—Picked Lancaster bomber crews, including some Canadians, which had trained secretly for weeks, came down to [illegible] against the huge Mohne and Sorpe Reservoirs and Eder Dam in Germany last night.

The reservoirs are on the Mohne and Sorpe Rivers which are tributaries of the Ruhr. The dam is on the Eder River.

Wing Commander G. P. Gibson, in charge of the entire operation, personally led the attack on the Mohne Dam, and after dropping mines flew up and down alongside the dam to draw the fire of light anti-aircraft guns emplaced on it.

Flight Lieutenant H. B. Martin said: "The wing commander's load was placed just right and a spout of water went up 300 feet . . .

"Then I went in and we caused a huge explosion up against the dam. It was not until another load had been dropped that the dam at last broke."

JETS OF WATER HURTLE 200 FEET

Another pilot said the jets of water were so powerful they were hurtling out horizontally for at least 200 feet.

An R.A.F. sergeant returning from the attack on the Sorpe Dam was the last to see the Mohne barrier.

"I found some difficulty in finding the right end of the reservoir because the shape had already changed," he said.

"There was already a new sheet of water seven miles long and it was spreading fast."

Another pilot said: "When we attacked you could see the crown of the wall already crumbling. Our load sent up water and mud to a height of 1,000 feet."

The Eder Dam was definitely breached in two places with a hole about thirty feet below the top of the dam and another on the eastern side, the Air Ministry said. Reconnaissance showed a torrent of water pouring through and a wave some thirty feet high rushing through the valley.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—Henry Cotton, who once conquered sickness and rose to be one of the world's greatest golfers, has been invalided from the R.A.F.—because of ill health.

Now thirty-six, Cotton is confined to his $45,000 home in Hertfordshire, where, until he joined the air force three years ago, he was professional at the Ashbridge Golf Club. He has been in failing health for several months, but despite his illness played many exhibition matches for the Red Cross Fund.

Before gaining international fame he was professional to the Waterloo Club in Brussels, where he went after a long period of adversity in England. He planned to become Britain's No. 1 golfer and was determined to attain a high standard of physical and mental fitness.

A Paris specialist worked out a simple but tough plan of diet and exacting physical exercises and gradually a new Henry Cotton emerged. The one-time assistant professional at England's Fulwell course returned to his native heath to astonish the golfing world with such feats as winning the British open four years in a row—1934-1937.

Aubrey Boomer, British international golfer, who succeeded Cotton as Waterloo Club pro, took his drive and the ball landed on the "fairway"—a sun-baked stretch of desert along the banks of a Persian river.

That's the best course Lieutenant Boomer, of the Royal Engineers, can find at present. But he plays when he can get a little time off from looking after the welfare of thousands of British and Indian troops who transport stores and equipment to the Tenth Army and to Russia.

Aubrey's last game on a recognized course was with King Leopold of Belgium at Waterloo a few days before the Nazis invaded the country. This desert course boasts nine holes with sun-dried grass "greens."

Boomer is known in golfing circles throughout the world. Former holder of French, Belgian, Netherlands and Italian open championships, he also represented Britain in Ryder Cup matches against America in 1926-27 and—1929. Now forty-five, he was with The British Coastal Motorboat Service in the first Great War.

Chairman of Bath City Football Club, Arthur Mortimer takes home all players' kit after every match—and his wife washes it.

Each Monday she hangs out eleven jerseys, eleven pairs of shorts and eleven pairs of stockings. She winds up the weekly chore with any necessary darning.

CAMERA CAUGHT THEM

CAIRO (CP).—A British Army cameraman captured eight Germans with his camera. As he raised the instrument to his eyes the Nazis thought he had some sort of new weapon and came out from a bush with their hands raised.

Australian Baby Adopted by 255 "Yank Daddies"

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, May 16 (CP).—Some Australian baby will acquire 255 American soldiers as foster fathers this week.

When the war is over and he grows big enough to travel alone, this baby is going to the United States and visit his Yank daddies.

Such is the plan of 255 men of a United States army signal company. They've agreed to contribute fifty cents a month each out of their pay for a fund for the adoption of some Australian youngster.

The men will pay the money until the war is over and the unit disbands—to Master Sgt. Jacob C. Brandt, who as the baby's American trustee will deposit the money into a fund planned for the child's upbringing and education. Brandt is married, but childless.

Shut-In's Day to Be Held June 6

Shut-In's Day will be celebrated the first Sunday in June, it has been announced by the International Shut-In's Day Association through the local representative, Mrs. Henry Reimer, 1006 Lodge Avenue.

Shut-In's Day is, according to Mrs. Reimer, "an annual international day set aside to encourage visiting the sick and disabled, that it may bring some extra cheer and fellowship into the lives of those who cannot mix in the normal social life of unhandicapped people."

Members of Shut-In's Day Association solicit the assistance of all organizations and individuals interested in the physically handicapped. They urge one to visit at least two invalids on Shut-In's Day, take them some small gift, and, if unable to visit, remember that a letter or card will be enjoyed.

According to the members of the association, "the ranks of the handicapped are growing rapidly owing to world conditions. Make at least two shut-ins your friends; one a civilian and the other a disabled veteran."

Shut-In's Day will be observed June 6.

Arion Club Marks Golden Anniversary

To mark the fiftieth anniversary of its founding the Arion Club, of Victoria, believed the oldest male-voice choir in Canada, gave a concert last night at the Royal Victoria Theatre under the distinguished patronage of Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward, Premier John Hart and Mayor McGavin. The anniversary concert was sponsored by the Kinsmen Club in aid of the Milk for Britain Fund.

One of the pleasing features of the evening was the warm reception given Mr. Herbert Kent, conductor emeritus, the only remaining charter member actively connected with the club. Mr. Kent was heartily applauded for his direction of "Mynheer Vandunck" (Sir Henry Bishop), a humorous number which was performed at the first concert of the Arion singers in the Institute Hall, View Street, on May 17, 1893, fifty years ago last night. Mr. Kent also directed "By Babylon's Waves" (Gounod), and "Lullabye" (Brahms). On behalf of the club, the president, Mr. Frank J. Sehl, presented the honored member with an illuminated address.

Another charter member, Mr. Keith Middleton, was present at the concert. Founder of "The Orphigus" male-voice choir of Tacoma, Wash., he has lived in the United States for many years.

During the evening a telegram of congratulation was received from the Eugene Gleemen, of Eugene, Ore., and a letter containing felicitations from the Victoria Choral Union and the Christ Church Cathedral choir.

Following the intermission, Mr. Woodward added his congratulations to the club which, he said, had established an enviable reputation backed by tradition. The worthy cause of the Kinsmen in sponsoring the concert was praised. In conclusion His Honor spoke of his great faith in Winston Churchill and derided the "armchair critics" who speak so glibly of Britain's conduct of the war.

SINGER RETURNS

Patricia Swift, of Victoria, now in her fourth scholarship year at the Cosmopolitan School of Music, Chicago, Ill., the assisting artist at last evening's concert received a hearty welcome on her first stage appearance since her return from the East. Miss Swift captivated the audience with her lovely voice in her first selection, the aria from "Der Freischutz" (Von Webber), and later sang a group of songs in English by Rachmaninoff, Hageman, Young, Tedesco, and Rummel. One of her most beautiful encores was the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria." Miss Swift was the recipient of many floral tributes.

The choir conducted by P. H. Hughes and B. C. Bracewell gave pleasure with their singing of spirited and humorous selections. Mr. T. Kelway won merited applause for his solo role in "Italian Salad" (Genee), other soloists were Mr. Kyrle Symons and Mr. Sydney White. In quieter vein "Brier Rose" and "Prayer of Thanksgiving" were effectively rendered by the choir while the "Border Ballad" (Maunder), given with great spirit was enthusiastically encored. The concert closed with "Land of Hope and Glory" (Elgar), the bass solo taken by Mr. Fred Wright. Accompaniments were sympathetically played by Mrs. C. C. Warn, who received a floral tribute.

BOTH VERY EXCITING

LONDON (CP).—A fifty-five-year-old man, described as a marine fireman, told officers at London's Old Street Police Station: "I don't know which is worse, to be torpedoed or to be chased by a woman."

Engagements

Announcements to appear under this heading will be accepted at The Colonist Advertising Department. Minimum charge $1.50 for 10 lines, and 15c for each additional line.

The engagement is announced between Lieutenant Charles Philip Abbott Sharland, Colonial Administrative Service, Northern Rhodesia, and East African Holding Battalion, elder son of Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Alan A. Sharland, of Haywards Heath, Sussex, and Victoria, B.C., and Norma, only daughter of Major and Mrs. N. O. Earl-Spurr, of Broken Hill, Northern Rhodesia.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bell, 1045 Empress Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Elizabeth, to Norman James Cain, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cain, 192 Niagara Street. The wedding will take place in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham W. Donahoe, Chemainus, announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Jean Auriol Amy, to Mr. Joseph Richard Barnard, C.P.O., Calgary, Alta., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Barnard, Vernon, B.C. The marriage will take place on Saturday, June 5, at 6.30 p.m., in Calvary Baptist Church, Chemainus, Rev. E. W. Robinson, Victoria, officiating, assisted by Rev. W. Acason, Chemainus.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Whittaker announce the engagement of their daughter, Bertha Elcy (nursing sister, R.C.N.), to Paymaster Lieut.-Cmdr. Angus John Henry MacDonald, R.C.N.R., son of Mrs. W. J. THOMSON—BARTER

The chapel of Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Friday evening when Very Rev. Cecil Swanson united in marriage Jane, daughter of Mrs. M. Barter, 3029 Uplands Road, Victoria, and 2nd Lieut. Gordon Thomson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Thomson, 2740 Dufferin Avenue, Victoria. Mr. Chubb, organist, played the music for the service. Given in marriage by Mr. George Cran, Vancouver, the bride wore a becoming gown of blush pink crepe, with hat to match, fashioned of feathers, and trimmed in rose and orchid shades, with pink veiling. Her corsage bouquet was composed of orchids. Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held in the private room of the Terminal City Club, when a wedding cake, adorned with pink and white rosebuds, centred the table, decorated with pottery boats filled with lily of the valley and rosebuds. For a honeymoon to be spent in Victoria and Banff, the bride chose for traveling a smart suit of rose rust corduroy with matching hat and veil. Lieutenant and Mrs. Thomson will make their home for the immediate future in Calgary.

"I wish you would shave that moustache off, Henry," said his wife. "You look like Hitler."

"Don't worry, dear," he murmured meekly. "The neighbors know us—they know I'm no dictator."

Victoria Girl Heads Students In R.C.A.F. Class

WINNIPEG, May 17 (CP).—Assistant Section Officer Jean Watkins, of Victoria, was the first woman signals officer of the R.C.A.F. to graduate from No. 3 Wireless School here, authorities announced today. She has been posted to the Eastern Command. The only woman in her class, she headed students in air operating.

Federated W.I. To Hold Biennial Session in Toronto

TORONTO, May 16 (CP).—The thirteenth biennial meeting of the board of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada will be held in Toronto, June 1 to 3, it was announced today.

Back the Attack . . . . . Be a CWAC!

Staff-Sergeant Phyliss Gable, of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, has an interesting job as an Acting-Quartermaster at Vancouver Barracks. In explaining her work she says, "This is where the girls do all their shopping for clothes because it doesn't cost them a cent. We fit the uniforms and make alterations to the individual's requirements. That's why the CWAC uniforms always look smart. The Q.M. stores also fit respirators, helmets, and issue a variety of equipment." Staff-Sergeant Gable has had the four weeks basic training and also Quartermaster courses at Ordnance Depot and Vancouver Barracks.

The CWAC offers girls who have the ability and are willing to apply it, opportunities for interesting and important jobs in Canada's war effort. More girls and women are needed. Full information may be obtained from the CWAC Recruiting Office, 717 Granville Street (old Hotel Vancouver), or any National Selective Service Office.

Vancouver Girl Becomes Bride of Lord Ossulston

VANCOUVER, May 17.—Friends and relatives of the bride came from Victoria to attend the marriage on Saturday afternoon of Virginia Diether-Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Diether, and F.O. Lord Ossulston, R.A.F., son of the eighth Earl of Tankerville, of Chillingham, Northumberland, England, and Mrs. J. Holt Wilson, of Broomhills, Boles-daye, Diss, Norfolk. The wedding [illegible] morial Church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. G. Harrison Villett. Mrs. Harold Miles, of Calgary, was matron of honor, and Miss Barbara Diether, of Victoria, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a dusty pink suit and small brown hat. Miss Karen Morris, daughter of the bride, was flower girl, and F.O. George Thorpe, R.A.F., of New Zealand, was groomsman. At the reception following, held at the home of the bride, Matthews Avenue, Shaughnessy Heights, where four generations of the family reside, including her grandfather, Mr. James MacIlreevy, the tea table was presided over by Mrs. J. C. Doig, Mrs. Bruce Farris, of Port Alberni, and Mrs. Goodwin Johnson. Mrs. Louis Diether assisted in receiving the guests, and the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Lorne Graham.

Serve Selflessly, The Queen Tells Boys and Girls

LONDON, May 16 (CP).—The Queen, addressing 2,000 boys and girls at Buckingham Palace, appealed today to the youth of Britain to "work as bravely and steadfastly for a better world for all mankind in the peace to come as you now are working to end this war in victory."

The boys and girls had taken part in an Empire Youth Sunday parade. The Queen told her young audience that the future would lie in their hands.

"Serve one another selflessly and put all your trust in Almighty God," she said.

Solarium J.L.

Plans for a fashion show to be held in June were discussed at last night's meeting of the Solarium Junior League, held in the board room, Pemberton Building. Mrs. H. V. Bassett has been named general convener, with an assisting committee comprised of Miss Helen Baird, Miss Mildred Jones and Miss Muriel Hawkes. In charge of refreshments will be Mrs. Graham Harris, Miss Cora Wharton and Miss Lillian Helgeson.

The president, Mrs. P. H. Brown, who was in the chair, announced that the "Shower of Dimes" total had risen to approximately $1,600, which exceeds last year's objective by $400. Donations are still coming in and a final report cannot be made until the next meeting.

Nominating committee for the annual election of officers consists of Mrs. H. B. McClung (convener), Mrs. R. Grant and Miss Helen Peden, and in charge of the dinner preceding the annual meeting of the league will be Mrs. K. J. Davis and Mrs. A. C. Radford.

Mrs. A. Pitkethley reported that checking of coats at the Hilker concerts throughout the Winter had realized $60.78. Miss Margaret Wilson was welcomed as a new member.

DO YOU FEEL NERVOUS AND ALL ON EDGE?

People suffering from loss of appetite and run-down condition with symptoms of nerve strain often need a nerve and general tonic. Glycero Lecithin with Vitamin B (1) supplies tonic ingredients. It is especially beneficial for convalescents. By increasing the supply of Vitamin B (1) to the system, appetite is improved and the system thereby built up to normal, if the loss of appetite was due to a deficiency of Vitamin B (1) in the diet. $1.00 at all Cunningham Drug Stores and other drug stores. Liberal Women's Forum

Mrs. F. J. Mitchell, president, conducted the recent meeting of the Liberal Women's Forum when it was agreed by the members that Victoria did not seem to be receiving food supplies commensurate with the great increase in population since war began and action will be sought to remedy the situation. Mrs. H. MacKenzie reported from the Local Council and asked help for harvesting on Vancouver Island farms and outlined plans already drawn up for the handling of workers under the Emergency Farm Labor Service. Mrs. G. Bullock reported from the W.R.A.C., concerning the latest bulletins. Announcement was made of the nutrition film to be shown on Wednesday evening at the Y.W.C.A. at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Victoria Public Library Board. The meeting unanimously endorsed requests for a veterans' hospital in Victoria and letters will be sent to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and other ministers concerned, urging the establishment of such a hospital here.

Salt Spring Island W.A.

Salt Spring Island branch of the Woman's Auxiliary met recently in the Parish Room, Ganges, with Mrs. G. H. Holmes presiding and opening the meeting with prayer and reading. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $28.61. The Dorcas secretary reported the sale of several articles, adding $7.90 to the amount on hand, making $36.50. It was decided to have the brasses at St. Mark's re-lacquered, at the estimated cost of $12, and also to purchase new linen for the altar cloth. Mrs. S. W. Hoole, convener of the church cleaning committee, was empowered to obtain the necessary material. The secretary was asked to write Mr. C. H. Trafford thanking him for his help in painting and installing the cupboard for the use of W.A. members in the Parish Room. The president stated Mrs. Fred Crofton had kindly offered the grounds of Harbour House on Thursday, July 15, for the church fete, in connection with which, Mrs. H. A. Robinson and Mrs. Hoole have undertaken to collect contributions for the home produce stall, from residents of the north end of Ganges. Mrs. W. M. Palmer read an account of the passing of Mrs. Antell, wife of Rev. J. Antell, whose work with the West Coast Columbia Mission is so widely known. Mrs. Holmes also read a letter from a mother, who with her two children, escaped from Singapore and, after terrible experiences reached South Africa. Tea hostesses Mrs. S. P. Beech and Mrs. F. Stacey.

PATIENT RESCUED

MONTREAL, May 17 (CP)—More than eighty aged patients of the Bruchesi Institute, operated by the Sisters of Providence, were carried to safety today when fire of unknown origin broke out on the top floor of the hospital. Another 400 elderly inmates of the Asile de la Providence, adjoining the institute, left the building unassisted. Damage was not heavy.

VANCOUVER, May 17 (CP)—Vancouver barbers are circulating a petition which urges a civic by-law establishing a five-day week for barber shops. The barbers are seeking the compulsory closing of shops all day Wednesdays.

Glamourize Meat Loaves

No matter what else your meat market doesn't have, chances are there'll be the makin's of a meat loaf

What's in a meat loaf? Well, that's up to you; but take it from me, a meat loaf can be a rare and elegant thing with a bit of thought and planning. Take shape for instance. Everyone likes variety, so make the loaf different every time. Meat loaf in a ring mold with the centre full of buttered peas or creamed celery is a sight to start mouths watering.

Then the flavour, that's up to you again. Some folks like to season the mixture with sage or other herbs. Then others like a dash of Worcester or horseradish. And don't think a meat loaf must be 100 per cent beef! Try mixing ground beef with the same amount of ground heart. (That's putting extra nutrition into the meal, too.) And don't be afraid of other meats (veal, pork or lamb) which may be available. Or the leftover meats in your refrigerator.

As to texture, some like a dry loaf, some a moist one. The secret lies in the bread crumbs. Fine crumbs make a compact loaf—need more liquid to avoid dryness.

And one last hint. When the meat loaf is cold it is excellent sliced between mustard-buttered slices of Canada Approved bread for a tasty and sustaining lunch-box sandwich.

LUNCH BOX CONTENTS

. . . should include 1. milk in some form (soup or cocoa or straight); 2. meat, fish or egg; 3. Canada Approved bread; 4. a leafy green or yellow vegetable and 5. a fruit . . . these as a minimum.

Have you your copy of "Meat Complete" yet? Martha Logan's handbook of meat cookery is invaluable for wartime meal planners. Send 10¢ to Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Dept. NJ18, Toronto.

Red Cross Chairman Says Over 40,492 Articles Made

Mrs. Wallace Campbell, national chairman of the Women's War Work Committee, reported at the annual meeting of the central council, Toronto Canadian Red Cross, recently that 40,492 articles were made in the national workroom and in the divisions at a total value of $8,723.15. The national pool of special hospital supplies received from the divisions and national workroom in 1942 totaled 61,696. The total number of articles shipped overseas during the year was 6,285,467, including the following: Civilian relief, 2,285,167; hospital supplies, 1,068,767; woolen comforts for the forces, 1,193,256, and women's comforts for the auxiliary services, 125,398. The total distribution to local units in Canada was 1,333,945, and the total distribution to Newfoundland, 178,934.

During the year several heroic commitments were made, including the call for 200,000 sheets and 100,000 pillow cases for Russia; vast quantities of relief clothing, woolen comforts and hospital supplies. Thousands of survivors' dunnage bags were made across the Dominion, chiefly for use on the East Coast and in Newfoundland. Thirty thousand sailors' comfort bags distributed by the Navy League at a value of $93,700 were made in Red Cross workrooms all across the Dominion. Gauze was provided and cut by the national workroom for 33,091 surgical dressings made by the Ontario Division to meet a national emergency.

The booklet, "Restrictions and Eliminations Pertaining to Clothing," in compliance with the regulations set out by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board issued in January, 1943, after months of research, has been well received and should be in constant use by the divisions.

CORPS WORK DEVELOPMENTS

Miss A. E. Parkes, chairman of the Canadian Red Cross Corps Committee, reported two long-awaited developments in corps work during the year—the call of the R.C.A.M.C. for V.A.D.'s in military hospitals in Canada and the call from the overseas commissioner for personnel for duty with the Red Cross in England. The corps' field of operation was extended to include every province in Canada. A fifth section, university training, was also established. The transport section shows an increase in transportation of blood donors to and from clinics, and blood and plasma to laboratories. The Toronto detachment did considerable ambulance work carrying 1,335 patients for the three services during the year, totaling 252,718 duty hours for the Red Cross.

The nursing auxiliary shows an increase of service in blood donor clinics. Detachments are on duty in Halifax, Saint John, Montreal, Toronto, London, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria, giving service in Department of Pensions and National Health military hospitals and an increasing number are serving in civilian hospitals. Up to the end of the year the R.C.A.M.C. had called for twenty-six members as V.A.D.'s for service in military hospitals and the Sydney detachment did yeoman service at the time of the St. Caribou disaster.

The office administration section, besides setting up and maintaining records in permanent and mobile blood clinics, gave invaluable assistance during the campaign.

The food administration section of the corps has provided nourishment for blood donor clinics, the lunchroom at Toronto Branch, canteen duty, hot lunches for a war work plant, and in Ottawa box lunches for certain Civil Service personnel. Certain detachments have worked with A.R.P. officials, one city council having voted funds enabling the corps to prepare food as part of A.R.P. training.

W.A. to Jubilee Hospital Aids Social Service

The sum of $125.50 was raised by the Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital at a bridge tea held recently in the Nurses' Home. The funds will be donated to the social service department of the hospital.

More than thirty-six tables of bridge and mah jong were made up, and flowers arranged by Mrs. R. E. Wilson and Mrs. Harold Husband decorated the rooms. They chose bronze tulips, lilac and dwarf maple, while the tea table was centred by a charming bouquet of vari-colored lilacs.

Miss Norma Macdonald and Mrs. C. Fleming presided over the tea table and Mrs. H. G. Ellis, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Brown, served the tempting lunch.

Guests, patronized the booths for fortune-telling and character reading equally. Mrs. R. Harvey and Mrs. H. Hamlett were in charge.

Prizes were given by Miss Lena Mitchell, director of nursing; Mrs. Norman, general convener, and Mrs. R. A. Wootton, auxiliary president. Those receiving gifts were Mesdames Sproule, George Hall, M. Beasley, R. H. Palmer and K. Brown. Mrs. Herbert Brown was in charge of a game.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP).—The stock market had to contend with a lot of imponderables today and the result was relatively sluggish dealings and slightly mixed trends.

Revival of the coal labor controversy served as a buying restraint. In addition, commitments were kept at a minimum in most cases pending outcome of the Roosevelt-Churchill world strategy conferences, indications as to the forthcoming corporate taxes and more definite signs as to whether the list had undergone sufficient correction of the lengthy upswing. Cheering war news provided props for some peace-rated issues.

The direction was irregularly lower from the opening. Timid bidding cropped up here and there after mid-day, and air transports, bottomed rails and specialties finished with comfortable advances. Declines, however, were plentiful at the close.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was off .1 of a point at 50. The recent market breadth was lacking. Of 836 individual issues traded, 493 were down or unchanged and 343 up. Transfers of 848,310 shares were the smallest for five hours since April 27 and compared with 1,626,734 last Friday.

ANSWER TO SUNDAY'S PUZZLE

Honors for Brides-Elect

On Saturday evening Miss P. Burkmar entertained at the home of her sister, Mrs. Kelly, Cadillac Avenue, honoring Miss Dorothy Matheson, a June bride-elect. On a table with decorations of green and white, the presents were concealed beneath a white bell with green streamers. Among those present were Misses P. McAllister, B. Matheson, J. Merrick, G. Burkmar, S. Burkmar, R. Jent and Mesdames D. Ponsford and J. Ponsford. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink sweetheart roses on her arrival.

On Sunday afternoon Mrs. H. Thirlwall, 1026 Oliphant Street, entertained at a trousseau tea for her daughter, Miss Lillian Stokes, who is being married in the near future. The lovely shower and wedding gifts were displayed in the dining-room and here and in the living-room Spring flowers provided an attractive background. Mrs. C. W. Paulin presided at tea time, the tea table covered with an Italian cutwork cloth with deep lace border, being centred with a charming bouquet of pink tulips and blue iris in a cut glass bowl and lighted by four tall ivory tapers in silver holders. Mrs. J. Grimmond, Mrs. B. King, Mrs. H. Smith, and Miss Gladys Rennie assisted their hostess in serving, and other guests included Mrs. John Milton, Mrs. J. Davis, Mrs. Porteous, Mrs. Hickman, Mrs. D. Carley, Mrs. A. Main, Mrs. A. Doble, Mrs. T. E. Bell, Mrs. B. King, Mrs. H. Smedley, Mrs. E. Warburton, Mrs. J. Hannan, Mrs. G. Aitken, Mrs. B. Gilmer, Mrs. F. Sturrock, Mrs. V. Anderson, Mrs. B. Clarke, Mrs. M. Hogge, Mrs. D. McDougall, Mrs. J. Ackenclose, Mrs. E. Peden, Mrs. L. Emerson, Mrs. P. Nicol, Mrs. A. Steele and Misses Jean Milton, B. Macmurchie, E. Wallace, B. Forbes, F. Holden, P. Jackson, Kay Paulin, V. Beek and J. Scoble.

Honoring Miss Irene Brooks who is to be married shortly, Mrs. John Wells, 57 Linden Avenue, entertained at a tea and miscellaneous shower. Upon their arrival the bride-to-be and Mrs. R. Robertson, mother of the groom-elect, received corsage bouquets of carnations and sweet peas for Miss Brooks while the latter's were pink carnations. A bride-doll dressed in pink and white concealed the many pretty gifts. Piano selections by Mrs. J. H. Leaver were enjoyed. Mrs. Wells presided at the prettily arranged tea table and was assisted by her daughters, Miss Muriel and Miss Evelyn Wells. The table was centred with a lovely bouquet of lilac and narcissi and lighted by pink tapers. After tea Mrs. J. Wilson presented Miss Brooks with a peace-colored blanket on behalf of the girls on the staff of a local shop with good wishes. The guests were Mrs. R. Robertson, Mrs. J. Wilson, Mrs. N. Campbell, Mrs. I. Howe, Mrs. Butt, Mrs. T. Nixon, Mrs. L. Bradley, Mrs. J. E. Ball, Mrs. Samis, Mrs. C. W. Morrish, Mrs. E. A. Marr, Mrs. J. H. Leaver and Misses B. Carr, Grace Squire, Dorothy Wells, G. Leaver, Evelyn and Muriel Wells and Master Jimmy Wells.

Young People's Organizations

A.Y.P.A. COUNCIL

The Victoria and District Local A.Y.P.A. Council met recently at St. John's Church. President Norman Williams in the chair. A brief report was given on the progress of the A.Y. Monthly subscription competition, and branch conveners were advised some subscriptions would soon be expiring and to obtain renewals. Norman Williams, delegate to the Dominion A.Y.P.A. conference, to be held in Toronto this month, was urged to stress the need of obtaining fresher news for the Monthly by speeding up the publication. It was also suggested that the Monthly, which comes out about the middle of each month, be dated for the following month.

A letter of congratulation was ordered sent to Rev. L. D. Dixon, a former member of the council, who has just graduated from the Anglican Theological College, and is now at St. Barnabas' Church, New Westminster. A resolution was passed regarding the Sunday-Schools-by-Post. A letter will be sent to Miss B. M. Carlisle, of the G.B.R.E., asking if the board would consider the suggestion of the A.Y.P.A. to undertake the support of a given number of pupils in the diocese or province, and so stimulate a personal interest in the work. This suggestion will not interfere with donations now being sent to the Sunday-Schools-by-Post through the Dominion A.Y.P.A. Council. The next meeting was announced for June 17. Miss Ruth Carruthers, leader of girls' work in Canada, has been invited to address the meeting. The St. Mary's branch of the A.Y.P.A. is sponsoring a concert in St. Mary's Hall on June 1, at 8:15 o'clock. Proceeds in aid of the Red Cross, it was announced.

Red Cross Notes

BAZAAR AT GANGES

The annual bazaar organized by teachers and students of the Salt Spring Island Consolidated School and supervised by the principal, Miss R. Oulton, took place recently in the industrial arts room of the school building at Ganges. The sale, held for the benefit of the Ganges Red Cross Unit, was well attended, attractively arranged, and proved in every way most successful. The wood craft, in charge of Miss Oulton, assisted by high school boys, realized the sum of $46.11; in this section the workmanship of the boys was reported excellent. Presided over by Miss Eileen Burke, assisted by some of the girls, the attractive needlework stall netted $44.25; the home cooking and garden produce stall, in charge of Miss Dorothy Mount and helpers, realized $48.68; the "Penny Arcade," managed by Miss Pauline Howling, $10.60; fish pond, John Lees and Manson Toynbee, $13.37; hot dogs, soft drinks, Dick Toynbee and Dick Royal, $29.61. In the domestic science room, at tables decorated with Spring flowers, tea was served under the convenership of Miss E. Mohrman, assisted by high school girls, and netted $26.17. From a contest in charge of Margaret Henn and Julia Hall, the sum of $13.20 was made, the prize being an eleven-piece pyrex set won by Mrs. Ronald Lee. The sum of $231.48 was realized from the bazaar and after expenses were paid, a cheque for $205 was presented to the local Red Cross.

GORGE UNIT

The meeting of the Gorge Unit of the Canadian Red Cross will be held on Thursday, at 2 o'clock, in St. Martin's Parish Hall, Obed Avenue.

BAMBERTON UNIT

At the recent meeting of the Bamberton Red Cross Unit it was reported by the convener that eighty-five garments were completed in April. The sum of $1.53 was collected from the Red Cross box at "The Lookout" and the sum of $43 was realized by a card party; prize winners were Mrs. Alexander, Miss Trowsse and Mr. Leblanc, of Bamberton, and Mr. McCann, of Mill Bay. Novelty nosegays made by Mrs. Zellowitz [illegible] Whittle of Mill Bay, Mrs. Goodlad, Mr. Clegg and Mr. Frayne, of Bamberton. Contest winners were Mr. W. A. Dupont and Mr. A. B. Stewart, of Bamberton. An old-time dance brought the evening to a close.

A.R.P. Clerical Staff Writes Incident Test

To ensure efficient service at all times, twelve members of the A.R.P. central control room staff, all members of the Canadian Auxiliary Territorial Service, were given an examination last night by Inspector A. H. Bishop, A.R.P. controller, and Lieut. V. Nelson.

The twelve girls, including stenographers, telephonists, and map readers, were asked to record incidents at their peak speed, and to dispose of them as rapidly as possible. They were also given a written examination.

The practice was designed to test their accuracy, speed, hearing, legibility of writing, and composure during a crisis.

VERNON, May 17 (CP).—A hair-pulling exhibition cost Mrs. Dolores Hunden and Mrs. Vera Feist, a fine of $15 each and costs or fourteen days' imprisonment.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

GOSSIP FROM THE PRESS BOX

Was in the press box at the Athletic Park for last night's ball game. Quite a change in the layout this year as compared with the dusty old "cubby hole" the scribes have had to wriggle around in for Lord knows how long. It is more spacious, chairs have replaced the hard slab of timber, you can roll a cigarette without someone knocking tobacco and paper to the floor and stretch without saying, "Pardon me, I'm sorry." When we used to stretch in the old press box, nine times out of ten we clipped some guy under the chin or elbowed him in the mid-section, but now it's much different, room for everybody working the game and the odd guest. . . . Last evening we had a visit from Lee Hallberg, who airs the games for CJVI. The rotund radio announcer wasn't at the mike to give the play-by-play for he arrived at the ball yard, minus his tonsils, so he will be off the wave lengths for several more days, or, at least, until his vocal chords are in shape again. . . . Four circuit drives sailed over the Pembroke fence during the night. Jack Stratton, Eagles' leftfielder, started the circuit driving parade in the very first frame when he lifted one over with a mate aboard, and then Noel Morgan caught hold of one of Shillito's fast ones and it cleared the weet Caporal sign in centrefield with feet to spare. First round-tripper from the V.M.D. camp came from the bat of Reg. Patterson with two cushions occupied, and then he produced another homer in the eighth frame when he trotted to the plate to open the inning. "Pat" had a great night with the willow as he hit safely five times out of six trips. . . . Bud Syrotuck, young son of the Eagles' manager, looks like a coming outfielder. He pulled off a great running catch of a hard drive going away from him in the early innings. . . . Something unusual happened during the game: Jack Stratton dropped a fly ball in leftfield.

ODDS AND ENDS

Remember when Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world from 1915 to 1919, came out of retirement twenty years ago yesterday to sign for a fight with Louis Firpo? Willard was knocked out, and it was an emphasis on the end of his fighting career. Firpo never did become champion, but he nearly did when he swung a wild haymaker at Jack Dempsey and sent the Manassa Mauler flying through the ropes in one of the bloodiest episodes in ring history. . . . Also remember when The great Man o' War, this continent's most famous race horse, won the Preakness Stakes at Pimlico? You have to go back twenty-three years ago today to look that item up on the sport pages. In that year as a three-year-old he created five records. Man o' War, now twenty-six, was retired from stud last March . . . Today the fifth place Hollywood ball club is going to try and halt the winning streak of Los Angeles in the Angels' own backyard. If the fast-traveling Angels grab the decision they will tie the modern Coast League record of nineteen straight, hung up by the same team just four years ago, and first established back in 1903 by the San Francisco nine . . . One of United States' most prominent amateur golfers, Lieut. John P. Burke, has left for the fairways "beyond." The former Rhode Island shotmaker paid the supreme sacrifice in the Central African area. He competed in the national amateur on four occasions and won the inter-collegiate title back in 1938. I saw young Burke play in the United States amateur in Portland in 1937 when he went out of the running in the third round when he bowed to the defending champion, Johnny Fischer, of Cincinnati . . . "I'm the world's worst and biggest wrestler," said 640-pound Martin "Blimp" Levy, of Brooklyn, as he tied his shoes to demonstrate his agility before a crowd in Buffalo recently. "I win a lot of matches," he added, "because when I fall on them they stay put."

FROM PARKS TO THE LINKS

Visited the ball park Sunday morning to watch the boys in training, but, strange to say, they had too much of the diamond pastime on the previous day and none of them showed up. However, I sat in the bleachers and watched the league secretary knocking out grounders to a bunch of teen-age players who were more than keen to learn . . . Over at Central Park two softball teams were working out. On one diamond was Wally Yeamans and his Unity girls and on the other was St. Louis College with Brother Reilly in charge. Outside of that there wasn't much doing at either park, so yours truly was somewhat disappointed . . . In the afternoon your columnist headed for the Gorge Vale Golf Club to look the place over. Chatted with Secretary Jim Smart and he tells me that everything is going along fine at the course; the membership is getting larger and the layout is crowded every week-end. Ran into a lot of old friends, many of whom I used to play with less than two years ago. Went out on the putting green and, outside of sinking two holes in one, my stroking and judgment were putrid. Later on I tried out the course from tees to greens and the only part of my game which came back to me quickly—was caddying . . . My driving, second shots, approaching and putting were "simply rotten," and to think that I swung my first golf club nearly a quarter of a century ago as a flaming red-headed, freckled-faced bag carrier at the Oak Bay links.

Grandpal Ready For King's Plate

Harry Hatch's Horse Shows Form Training for Canadian Classic

By ALLAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 17 (CP)—The familiar refrain of the backstretch brigade—"Watch Hatch in the Plate"—still is a long way from No. 1 billing on the horsemen's hit parade, but it is gaining popularity.

Railbirds who remember Mon-sweep in 1936, Goldlure in 1937 and Budpath in 1941 instinctively respect any King's Plate entry wearing the light and dark blue silks of Harry C. Hatch. But few conceded the Toronto sportsman a favorite's role to win the eighty-fourth renewal of Canada's richest horse race with Sweepgold or Grandpal, his 1943 candidates.

That is, not until Sunday, Trainer Cecil Howard sent the Hatch pair over the mile route at Woodbine in what may be their last serious prep for next Saturday's $5,000 added three-year-old classic. Sweepgold didn't impress, but Grandpal ticked off the distance in 1:47 2-5—a full two seconds faster than his running mate and by far his best effort of a training campaign made unusually difficult for all Plate eligibles because of weather conditions.

Grandpal has been a hot-and-cold proposition almost from the start. Son of the route-loving Granville, he recorded an impressive front-running victory in the Coronation Stakes at Woodbine last Fall, but took Arbor Vita's dust in the Cup and Saucer Handicap at Dufferin a short time later. Until Sunday, he had been consistently overshadowed in morning workouts by Sweepgold, who finished third in the Coronation.

Lloyd Centry, relieved by Howard as Hatch conditioner a few weeks ago, says Grandpal is one of the fastest Canadian-breds he ever trained but is inclined to be moody.

If Grandpal should uncork his best speed Saturday to upset such stiff opposition as is expected to be provided by W. F. Morrissey's Arbor Vita, Riverdale Stable's Gallant Foe and W. E. MacDonald's Tulachmore, it would be right in the Hatch tradition of fooling the experts.

Golf Semis Are Gained

Eliminations At the Gorge

Defending Champion Robinson had another close call, going to the eighteenth green before eliminating Dave Hurdle, one up. The titleholder wasn't up to scratch as he strayed into trouble many times but he managed to come through by the narrowest of margins against the veteran.

Basanta, who walked off with the card and pencil test, being the only starter to break eighty, kept his shots under control most of the day to account for A. Jurlioff, 3 and 2, while Simpson, formerly of Macaulay Point Club, ousted F. Corman, 2 and 1, while an ex-champion, Dick Cox, posted victory against "Bunny" Thomson by a similar margin.

The first flight scramble will be between the following four left in the running: Ernie Cook, George Quincey, Ernie Brachat and Cy Spaven.

Semi-finals in the championship and first flight will be played next Sunday and the following week-end will mark the crowning of the new champion, if there is one.

Results follow:

Championship—F. L. Basanta won from A. Jurlioff, 3 and 2; A. Simpson won from P. Corman, 2 and 1; E. Robinson won from D. R. Hurdle, 1 up; R. Cox won from J. G. Thomson, 2 and 1.

First Flight—W. E. Cook won from W. G. Frampton, 1 up; G. Quincey won from C. J. Robertson, 2 and 1; E. Brachat won from W. Peters, 4 and 2; S. W. Spaven won from D. Barr, 1 up.

Second Flight—H. Ashton won from Syd Jenkins, 5 and 4; R. Panthorpe won from W. Rowe, 3 and 2.

Third Flight—R. Dunlop won from G. Corkle, by default; J. Cunningham won from O. H. Dorman, 1 up.

Fourth Flight—B. Johnstone won from T. Mathers, by default; E. Dempsey won from A. Sheard, 4 and 2.

Fifth Flight—G. Stevens won from D. Gilbard, 2 and 1; M. E. McDowall won from N. Howard, 3 and 2.

Sixth Flight—R. Davison won from G. Austin, 4 and 3; B. Frankling won from P. Foster, 3 and 2.

SUNDAY'S DRAW

Draw follows:

Championship—8:45, F. L. Basanta vs. A. Simpson; 8:50, E. Robinson vs. R. Cox.

First Flight—8:55, W. E. Cook vs. G. Quince); 9:00, E. Brachat vs. S. W. Spaven.

Second Flight—9:05, H. Ashton vs. R. Panthorpe.

Third Flight—9:10, R. Dunlop vs. J. Cunningham.

Fourth Flight—9:15, B. Johnstone vs. E. Dempsey.

Fifth Flight—9:20, G. Stevens vs. M. E. McDowall.

Sixth Flight—9:25, R. Davison vs. B. Frankling.

Glasses Aid Waner

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Sometimes Paul Waner removes his specs out there in right field, looks toward the blurred figures around home plate, and wonders how he ever played baseball all these years without wearing glasses.

The forty-year-old Brooklyn fly chaser currently is away up there in the batting average brackets, and he likes to think that the specs are responsible for this sudden rediscovery of his batting eye.

"I'm near sighted," he said. "Even back in my Coast League days I'd go to a show and couldn't read the subtitles they used to have then. That was twenty years ago. I didn't realize how much they would help me in baseball until I tried them this Spring, though."

Wildly Thrown Ball Creates Unusual Action

Brooklyn Noses Out Cards After Pitchers' Battle

Melton Bests Pollet in 1-0 Fixture—Cincy Reds and Phils Triumph

BROOKLYN, May 17 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers mastered St. Louis Cardinals today, 1-0, on the five-hit hurling of Frank (Rube) Melton as the two rivals for the National League pennant clashed in a twilight encounter before 12,123 fans.

The only run of the game came in the second inning and Melton himself got credit for knocking home, effectively stopping the Redbirds on the threshold of their four-game invasion of Ebbets Field and dropping them to third place in the standings behind the idle Boston Braves.

Dixie Walker drove in the wedge for Brooklyn's run by opening the second with a ringing double to the scoreboard, the only extra base hit of the ball game. After he moved to third on an infield out, Alex Kampouris walked. Then Melton smacked a perfect double play ball at Third Baseman Jimmy Brown, who nailed Kampouris at second, but the chunky Dodger threw a block on Rookie Lou Klein that prevented him from completing the double killing.

Although there was no other scoring, the Dodgers pounded at the door in several other frames and only some dazzling defensive play led by Brown, filling in at third for the injured Whitey Kurowski, forestalled more runs.

Brown started three double plays, once when the bases were loaded in the first and again with the sacks filled in the third.

STARR DEFEATS THE GIANTS

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Ray Starr led Cincinnati Reds back into the National League's first division today by pitching and batting a 3-1 victory over New York Giants in the first installment of a three-game series.

Starr held the Giants to eight hits. In addition he singled with the bases loaded in the second inning when the Reds did all their scoring. He brought in two runs and Lonnie Frey followed with the second of his three hits for another run.

New York's tally came on three singles in the fifth.

PHILADELPHIA, May 17 (AP)—The old jinx of Chicago Cubs, Johnny Podgajny, aided by a five-run uprising in the first inning, pitched the Phillies to an 8-4 victory over the Bruins at Shibe Park today.

As usual, Stan Hack was the only man to bother Podgajny. The Chicago third sacker got two doubles and a single.

The Phils scored five runs in the first inning, sending Claude Passeau and Ed Hanyzewski to the showers before Les Fleming came up and stopped the rally with the bases loaded.

Baseball Fixtures Are Arranged for Holiday Week-End

WITH the Vancouver Army baseball club booked for a league fixture at home and other Mainland teams unable to travel over the week-end, officials of the Victoria Baseball Association yesterday announced McGavin Cup games here for this week-end. Double bills will be presented at Royal Athletic Park Saturday and Monday as follows: Saturday, Navy vs. R.C.A.F., afternoon game; Army vs. Eagles, evening game. Monday, R.C.A.F. vs. Army, afternoon game; Navy vs. V.M.D., evening game. Starting next Monday, evening fixtures at the local ball park will be dropped back to 6:30 o'clock. Matinee attractions will be kept at the 2:30 o'clock starting time.

JUDGE LANDIS STEPS IN

PITTSBURGH, May 17 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today that Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis had notified them that Gordon (Babe) Phelps could not play until sixty days after completion of the deal which sent the rotund catcher from the Bucs to Philadelphia.

This, the commissioner said, was because Phelps did not sign a 1943 contract within ten days after the season started, and then was placed on the voluntarily retired list.

If the deal is still mutually agreeable to the two clubs at the end of the sixty-day period then the deal will be completed, Landis said.

"My husband is away so much I want a parrot for company. Does this one use rough language?"

"Lady, with this bird in the house you'd never miss your husband!"

Paces V.M.D. to 17-4 Win Over Eagles—Stratton, Morgan Hit for the Circuit

Eagles	3	0	3	.000

Last night's score:

V.M.D. 17, Eagles 4.

Next game, tomorrow:

6:15—Navy vs. Army, Royal Athletics Park.

Uncorking plenty of power at the home plate, Coach Laurel Harney's Victoria Machinery Depot baseballers, 1942 champions, last night blasted out a 17-4 victory over the Eagles, lowly cellar occupants, in a McGavin Cup baseball fixture at Royal Athletic Park.

It was the fourth straight triumph for the builders of "Victory" ships, and the outcome enabled them to complete their first swing around the circuit without tasting defeat. They will start their second round next Monday when they stack up against the Royal Canadian Navy, last season's finalists.

Reg Patterson, back of home plate last night, and Cy Shillito, his battery mate for most of the game, paced the V.M.D. attack. The husky receiver displayed some of his old-time power and blasted out two circuit drives and three singles in six trips to the plate. Pitcher Shillito poked out a double and three singles in five times at bat.

Champions hammered out a total of fifteen base knocks from Ricketts, Jamieson and Bayley from Manager George Syrotuck's hurling staff. Held to a single base hit in the first two frames, the V.M.D. sluggers gradually got to the pitching and certainly gave the ball a few long rides.

Dixon, a newcomer to the V.M.D. camp, paraded to the hillock at the start of the contest only to receive a warm reception at the hands of the Eagles. Jack Stratton's circuit blow over the Pembroke Street fence with one man on injured Dixon's chances of being around very long, and when Bill Bridgewood drew a walk, Coach Laurel Harney reached for the "hook."

CY SHILLITO COMES TO THE RESCUE

Cy Shillito took over and stopped the birdmen in order. But there were slight uprisings in the third and fourth frames in which the Eagles added single runs, their final tallies of the ball game. Noel Morgan's four-bagger right over the scoreboard gave the birdmen a run in the third, and in the next session they bunched three hits for a single run. For the next five frames Shillito was top man, and only two men got on out of the seventeen to face him on base.

Smart catches in the outer gardens drew the plaudits of the fans with young "Bud" Syrotuck, son of Manager George Syrotuck, of the Eagles, and Charlie Restall, coming in for their share of the applause.

Jack Stratton, who had a bad evening in the outer gardens, paced the Eagles' hitting with three safeties, a circuit blow, a double and a single out of four trips to the plate. Harper, third sacker, rapped out two doubles, while Syrotuck punched out a pair of singles.

Clint Hodges, Eagles' shortstop, received a bad cut under the chin when hit with a bouncing ball and had to leave the game.

Tomorrow's McGavin Cup ball game at Royal Athletic Park will bring together the Royal Canadian Navy and the Army for the first time this season. Bluejackets in second place, must win to stay close to the pace setters. Game time will be 6:15 o'clock.

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

THERE have been many suggestions as to the ultimate fate which should be imposed upon Hitler when the war ends. We have heard it said that he ought to be hanged publicly in Berlin. It has been proposed also that he should be confined in a cage and taken about the world as if he were some new kind of ferocious animal. But it is agreed, on all hands, that no punishment could be too terrible, in fact, no punishment could be at all adequate for the crimes he has committed against civilization. Our own idea is that the worst punishment that could be inflicted upon Hitler would be to do nothing to him at all except insist that he remain in Germany after the war. The only objection to this is that his mental agonies would be cut short too soon. He would, in all probability, kill himself or go insane when reflecting upon the destruction he has brought upon his own people.

Two More For Angels

Score Eighteen Straight Wins

Los Angeles took both games of Sunday's double-header by identical scores of 2-0 over Seattle Rainiers, raising its winning streak to eighteen consecutive games. The nineteen games without a defeat, set by the Angels in 1939.

Oakland beat San Diego twice in league play, winning the first game 4-1 and squeezing out a last-inning run for a 2-1 second game victory.

The collapsing Portland Beavers, who specialize in one-run losses, dropped two more to the San Francisco Seals by identical 6-5 scores. Portland now has lost eighteen games this season, thirteen of them by one-run margins.

Hollywood took a double-header from Sacramento, winning the first game 2-1 in ten innings and annexing the seven-inning nightcap 3-1. The double victory gave the Stars the series, five games to two.

Softballers Will Stage Double Bill

Four Senior Clubs To Perform Tonight

With all four senior clubs slated to see action, the Lower Island Softball Association will inaugurate its double-header programmes this evening at Royal Athletic Park.

Royal Canadian Navy and Army nines will open the card at 6:15 o'clock, followed by the Royal Canadian Air Force and Victoria Machinery Depot. Fixtures will be seven innings.

Bluejackets opened their 1943 pennant chase last week and dropped a 10-8 verdict to Manager Ed Ashe's V.M.D. softballers after leading, 8-0, in the early stages.

Army and Flyers are reported to have a number of top-flight players in their camps, many of whom will be making their first appearance on the local diamond.

Sheet Metal Ltd. defeated Spencers, 20-13, in a "C" section game last night at Central Park. The winners set up a 10-0 lead in the first two frames and the storemen were unable to overhaul them in the closing innings.

Texans Getting Good Baseball

DALLAS, May 17 (AP).—The war, which brought about suspension of the Texas League, gave the fans more baseball than they ever had before. They see major leaguers now working in army uniforms. Three service teams play a major league brand of ball.

Take the Waco Army Flying School headed by Birdie Tebbetts, of the Detroit Tigers. He has Sid Hudson, Washington pitcher; Buster Mills, who has been with six big league outfits, and Bruce Campbell, in the majors twelve years.

Then there is the undefeated Camp Wolters Club, with such fellows as Bob Savage, pitcher for the Athletics last year; Ken Gables, a New York Yankee chattel from Binghampton, and an assortment of minor league performers who worked with Gables yesterday to wallop Tebbetts' team and remove the Waco Army Flying School from the unbeaten list.

At Waco next week-end the Flying School plays Charley Gelbert's Norman (Okla.) Naval Air Technical Training Centre team twice, meeting, in addition to ex-Cardinal Gelbert, Major Leaguers Johnny Rizzo, Bennie Warren and Al Benton.

Harry Phillips of Bath, England, who for most of seventy-seven years was famous throughout West of England for his Punch and Judy show, died and had his punch doll buried with him.

YOUR LOSS ··· A SOLDIER'S GAIN

When you go into your favorite shoe store to buy a pair of Leckie's Fine Shoes, don't be surprised if your dealer can't show you the wide range in styles you've been accustomed to. It's not his fault, you know. Military requirements must come first. While your choice may be limited, you can still buy Leckie Shoes, and you can take consolation in the fact that our armed forces are going well-shod into battle

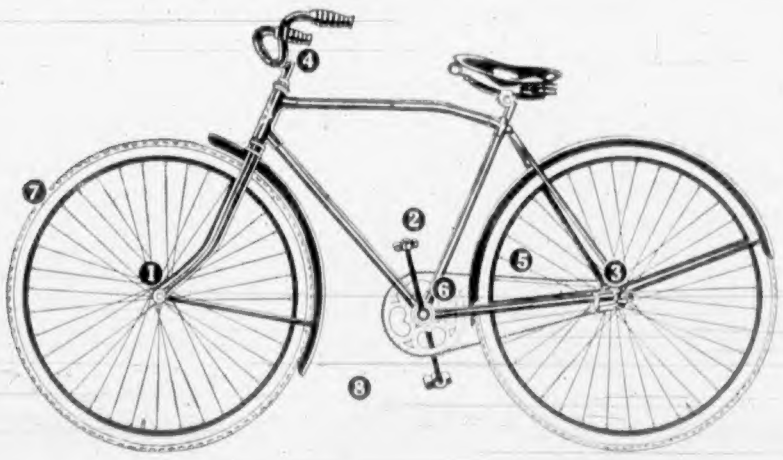
BICYCLES ARE PRECIOUS TOO,
LOOK AFTER YOURS

A C.C.M. bicycle, always a possession of which to be proud, may now be your precious and indispensable means of transportation. Look after it just as you do other possessions war has taught us to treasure.



As a guide to the "servicing" of your bicycle we offer the chart below:

1. Keep the front hub bearings properly adjusted so that the wheel will revolve freely. Oil frequently with machine oil.
2. Oil the pedals frequently.
3. Keep the brake cleaned, lubricated and adjusted so it will function quickly and smoothly. This should be done by your bicycle dealer.
4. Oil and keep freely adjusted your steering column.
5. Use special chain lubricant to keep this mass of moving parts in easy-running form.
6. Oil frequently the main hanger, to which the pedal cranks are attached, as this is the power plant of the bicycle.
7. Always keep your tires inflated hard. Avoid wheel-skidding and hitting curbs and stones. Check wheel alignment frequently to save tire wear.
8. The above servicing can be done best by your experienced C.C.M. dealer, who has the proper lubricants and tools for the job.

Give your bicycle this care or better still, take it now to your C.C.M. dealer for a check-up and for a thorough cleaning, and it will last much longer and give you more enjoyable and easier riding.

If you have an inactive bicycle in your home, get it out and sell it to your C.C.M. dealer. He will give you a good price for it and then sell it to a war worker or other qualified purchaser.

Bicycle Purchase Application form may be filled in at any bicycle dealer's store.

At the Theatres

Ginger Rogers Stars In Dramatic Comedy

The most dramatic, and at the same time the most hilarious, role of her successful career is provided for Ginger Rogers in Leo McCarey's "Once Upon a Honeymoon," which has been held over at the Dominion Theatre, and co-stars Miss Rogers with Cary Grant for R.K.O.-Radio.

In this stirring story of an American girl trapped in Europe in the early days of the German invasion, Miss Rogers plays a dancer whose desire for adventure has led her into marriage with a German baron, who, unknown to her, is a fanatical Nazi. Her efforts to escape this alliance, aided by a clever news broadcaster, provide the exciting action-plot of the film, which was produced and directed by Leo McCarey.

YORK THEATRE Bing Crosby and Bob Hope, who are teamed with Dorothy Lamour in Paramount's "Road to Morocco," now showing at the York Theatre, play a dual pantomime scene which is said to rival their brightest exchanges of dialogue for laugh getting. They are dining on the cuff in a small Moroccan cafe when a fierce-looking native at the bar signals to Bing. Bing strolls over to him and negotiates a business deal consisting of selling Bob to the native for 200 bucks, making arrangements in sign language.

CADET THEATRE "The Forest Rangers," now showing at the Cadet Theatre, is a powerful romantic drama based on a novel by Thelma Strabel, author of the recent Cecil B. DeMille hit, "Reap the Wild Wind." It was directed by George Marshall and its hit tune, "Jingle, Jangle, Jingle," was written by Frank Loesser and Joseph Lilley. There is another hit tune in the picture, "Tall Grows the Timber," by Frank Loesser and Frederick Hollander.

CAPITOL THEATRE The world's worst reporter watches the Nazis invade Russia and thinks it is a parade, in Samuel Goldwyn's thrill-packed comedy, "They Got Me Covered," starring Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, and now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The story revolves around the attempt of Hope to reinstate himself as a news-hound by unmasking Axis saboteurs who are operating under cover of legitimate business enterprises in Washington, D.C.

Amusements

On the Screen

Atlas—Rita Hayworth and Fred Astaire in "You Were Never Lovelier."

Cadet—Fred MacMurray, Paulette Goddard and Susan Hayward in "The Forest Rangers."

Capitol—Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour in "They Got Me Covered."

Dominion—Ginger Rogers and Cary Grant in "Once Upon a Honeymoon."

Rio—Robert Taylor and Mary Howard in "Billy the Kid."

York — "Road to Morocco," starring Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour and Bing Crosby.

ATLAS THEATRE Fred Astaire and Rita Hayworth had to tread lightly when walking down a garden gravel path for romantic scenes in "You Were Never Lovelier," at the Jerome Kern musical at the Atlas Theatre. William A. Seiter, director, had the original path, a noiseless mixture of cork and rubber, torn up and turned in for scrap. The new path, actual gravel, called for special recording to hold down the crunch.

RIO THEATRE Six months in the making, filmed in Technicolor in Arizona's picturesque Monument Valley, "Billy the Kid" brings Robert Taylor to the Rio screen in a Western role, with Mary Howard in the feminine lead and Brian Donlevy in a top supporting spot. Good man and bad wrote the history of the West. One of these was William Bonney, alias Billy the Kid, who lived bravely and recklessly.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES The amazing adventures of "The Scarlet Pimpernel," starring Leslie Howard and Merle Oberon, has been brought back by popular demand to the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. An Alexander Korda production, two other members of the featured cast are Raymond Massey and Nigel Bruce. Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, in "Pack Up Your Troubles," their funniest comedy, complete the bill.

Exhibition of Indian Work Is Opened

Fine Craftsmanship Put on Display

One of the largest exhibits of work by the Indian schools to be shown in the province was opened yesterday by Mrs. W. C. Nichol in the museum wing of the Parliament Buildings with entries from fifteen Indian residential and day schools.

Mrs. J. Brooks Webster, president of the society for the furtherance of British Columbia Indian arts and crafts, introduced Mrs. Nichol, who had done so much in the past year to further the work begun by the founder, Miss Alice Ravenhill, he said.

The society had helped bring the white population into sympathetic relation with the Indians of the province, creating a better understanding of their background and traditions. The Indian, he stated, excels in certain arts and he should be helped to develop them, also to acquire a feeling of his importance in this particular field.

Mrs. Nichol and Miss Ravenhill deserved much credit for getting together such an excellent exhibit. The exhibitors, though voting were most cautious whom they put in prizewinning place. Talent is an original thing and can most often be found among primitive people.

The directress of the Provincial Museum, Dr. G. Clifford Carl, who is also correspondent of the society, paid credit to his staff and the members of the society for the work done in connection with the exhibit.

Outstanding among the entries was the work of St. Mark's Indian girls, on of the chief of the Lakalzap Reserve, which was a feature of the Inkameep section. Pen and ink and water color paintings showed imagination and a good sense of color combination and were executed by Mary [illegible].

WON PRIZES IN ENGLAND

Some of the work of boys at one of the schools had been previously shown in England and had received much favorable comment. The King and Queen had seen them and it is remarkable how Indians were the first with awards to Canada as a whole in the Mother Country. One drawing of an Indian, a boy playing his [illegible] was awarded a first prize and good expression.

The BC Hardware Products Store supplies SHEEN Furniture Polish.

Great Lytton Secondary girls pupils, under Kate Peard and Indian, contributed a fine pastel map of British Columbia in pre-fur trade days with Indian and pioneer figures.

Paper kites were from the Alberni [illegible] done by a Nitinat lad and also one decorative basket were among the items shown by St. Catherine's Indian School, Duncan. This exhibit was rounded out by very beautiful carved totem, bookcases and figures.

Other schools exhibiting were St. George's Junior Seminary, Indian Day School, Kuper Island; Campbell River Day School; Day School, Pemberton; carved figure; Squamish Residential School, North Vancouver; St. Michael's, Alert Bay; Kootenay Day School, very good water colors.

Work shown at each exhibit included beadwork on blankets, various woodwork and drawings of early description.

Miss Alice Ravenhill was delighted with the work, and said that "As a whole it always quick to evaluate relative methods of artistic [illegible] and manual dexterity, qualities which the Indians inherit and know how to use if given the freedom to express their [illegible]."

The exhibition will be open to the general public this week.

Saturday, April 17, was the hottest day of Spring to Britain. Shade temperatures rose to [illegible] degrees on April 5 to seventy-five on April 17 when there were eleven hours of sunshine and a cloudless sky.

What Today Means

TAURUS

If May 18 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date will be from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m., from 1:45 to 3:45 p.m. and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods will be from 7:45 to 9:45 a.m. from 5:45 to 7:45 p.m. and from 9:45 to 11:45 p.m.

May 18 will be a good day during which to bear in mind that many people lack a sense of humor and have a habit of misconstruing humorous remarks on which might be placed more than one construction. Speak very literally and you may save yourself from losing a lot of time doing much explaining. You seem to be entering a period during which you will be presented with innumerable matter-brained ideas some prepared to distinguish between those which are practical visionary or just plain foolish. On the date you are apt to find that as many people who do not know the right things to do or say as you will those thoroughly conversant with all the usages of polite society, so it will be kind to make allowances for their ignorance. Married and engaged couples and those plighting their troths one to the other may discover before the day is over that an honest confession is good for the soul and often averts embarrassing complications.

If you are a woman and May 18 is your birthday, never assume an uncompromising attitude regarding anything for by making concessions you may have a great deal to gain. An encouraging spirit probably will be reflected in you having many future successes that will enable you to attain an enviable business or social position. You intuition should be very good so do not ignore or underrate it or be influenced by anyone who tells you it. In selecting partners be careful not to collect friends who might have some shortcomings to serve in expressing an [illegible] one. Your effort in work of an artistic, journalistic, literary, educational, scientific, historic, medical, legal, patriotic or commercial nature should achieve outstanding success, or win. You have also to prove to self worthy of matrimonial [illegible] to enable it. Would has done his part in aiding you to make a wise selection from his connubial grab bag.

The child born on May 18 will be the son of a musician, the discernment of an artist and remarkable creative ability. Many in other attributes help make the Taurus sound for popular and successful in his undertakings.

If you are a man and May 18 is your natal day your personality should enable you to go many things exceptionally well. An artistic temperament does not necessarily prevent your being a thoroughly practical man with good business [illegible] and sense. As a [illegible] you should achieve [illegible] success. [illegible] you have [illegible] to complete [illegible] you may have [illegible] to overcome. You must take [illegible] for you especially is a [illegible] day.

FOREMAN SUSPENDED

PENTICTON, May 17 (CP)—Municipal council has suspended George A. Robinson, Penticton's sewage foreman from duty for two months without pay. In a letter to Robinson J. R. Wrigglesworth, municipal clerk, explained such action was taken because of the foreman's absence May 2 when he had been asked by council in case of any trouble with the power system. Robinson admitted he was not immediately available at the time and added it [illegible] the reserve army a short distance from town.

REPRESENTS ALBERTA

EDMONTON, May [illegible] (CP)—[illegible] A. M. Lion Squadron of Canadian Bomber Group Hard Hitting In Action but Full of Fun

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN BRITAIN, May 17 (CP).—The storied squadrons of the first Great War must have been something like the Lion Squadron of the R.C.A.F. Bomber Group, hard hitting in action and after that a screwball gang all out for fun. It is a mixed group of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. personnel under command of Wing Cmdr. Dudley Burnside, D.F.C. and bar, an R.A.F. veteran of fighting against the Japanese. He won the D.F.C. in the Far East and the bar in this country.

The squadron's accommodation is temporary wartime stuff, crude in comparison to bigger peacetime-built air stations.

"A LITTLE ROUGH, BUT IT'S HOME"

"It's a little rough here maybe, but it's our home and we like it," said Flt. Lt. J. Chasanoff, squadron adjutant from Selkirk, Man. And then almost in the same breath, "and anyway, we're having a baseball game today and a 'flarepath' tonight."

If you hadn't seen "Chasz" racing round, telephoning, ordering this and that and signing countless forms for one thing and another you'd have thought the baseball game was the most important thing in the world.

The "flarepath" is another thing. That's where fellows like "Chasz" and Sqdn. Ldrs. Willie McKay, of Vancouver, really lead the outfit into a dipsy-doo that would drive the mess staff of almost any other squadron crazy.

"The flarepath" is the initiation into the officers' mess reserved for sergeants newly commissioned and visitors invited to join the mess.

NEWSPAPERMAN IS INITIATED

This night the newly commissioned men included P/O. Basil Crewe, of Wawota, Sask., and one newspaperman.

McKay laid out the "flarepath" with giant schooners of beer on the floor the length of the mess. An extra schooner goes on the head of mess-member-to-be and on the order to take off you head down the "flarepath" treading hopefully and carefully to the raucous notes of the gramophone playing "Nightmare."

There can be no emergency landings in this game. You circle the "field," get the order to land and get down on all fours without having spilled any beer or you go out again.

There is one gentleman who made it first crack off the bat, none other than Air Vice-Marshal George Brookes, group commander.

The Westerners at the station include L.A.C.'s N. McMillan, of Cowley, Alta., and Dick Lavery, of Vancouver.

Hospital Ship Arrives Back

HALIFAX, May 17 (CP).—Carrying a few wounded American troops from North Africa, as well as some Canadian servicemen, Canada's first hospital ship has arrived back in Canada after making her maiden voyage as a ship of mercy.

The vessel, the former Canadian National Steamships flagship Lady Nelson, now is known simply as "No. 46."

Details of the voyage were not disclosed.

Submarine War Picture Better

BOSTON, May 17 (AP).—Navy Secretary Frank Knox said today that "generally the picture is improving" for the United Nations in submarine warfare although it is "subject to ups and downs."

He said that the Japanese were using submarines differently than the Germans by employing the undersea craft as part of their fleet.

His only comment on the invasion of Attu, in the Aleutians, was that the battle was "moving along satisfactorily."

Shipyards Agree To Holiday Plan Set on Mainland

Vacation With Pay Period Is Extended

Holiday privileges for Victoria shipyard workers, with pay allowed in proportion to the length of time worked, will now conform to the practice in Vancouver yards, it was agreed yesterday at a meeting in the Empress Hotel of local shipyard operators and union representatives.

The date at which local workers would begin compiling holiday time with pay was set at March 22, when the Victoria yards agreed to continuous production seven days a week, as recommended by the Royal Commission on production.

However, when Vancouver yards signed contracts for continuous production a week ago, the basic holiday date was set back to January 1, and it was stipulated that the employee would not be penalized for leaving his job after his holiday, providing he had reasonable cause.

The meeting yesterday, with Mr. Justice S. E. Richards, head of the commission, acting as chairman, was called to acquaint the Victoria officials with these concessions. They will be embodied automatically into the contract signed in the local yards in March.

Others attending the meeting were F. E. Harrison and J. R. Currie, of the Federal Department of Labor.

Under the holiday system, unique in the shipbuilding industry from the standpoint of labor, for each month a man works after January 1, he is allowed one-half day holiday with pay. He than takes his holiday, and is allowed pay for a number of half days equal to the months worked. Although the men will not be paid for the full holiday this year, in twelve months they will be qualified for full pay on a six-day holiday.

New Type Zero

SYDNEY, Australia, May 17 (CP).—Wing Commander Caldwell, known as "Killer Caldwell" because he has twenty-four destroyed enemy planes to his official credit, said today that the Japanese now are flying planes of a "new type Zero" with more powerful engines than the original Zeros.

They are "hotted-up" Zeros with squarer wingtips, he said. "They are good planes, but not as good as Spitfires are faster and climb higher."

THREE BOATS DELAYED

EDMONTON, May 17 (CP).—Reports reaching Edmonton tonight said that, because of heavy ice conditions on Lake Athabaska, three boats of the North Transportation Company and the Hudson's Bay Company have been delayed for the past six days en route to Fitzgerald from Waterways. The boats left Waterways last Sunday and Monday, carrying this year's first supplies of fresh fruits, vegetables and other foodstuffs to residents in the Fort Smith, Chipewyan and Fitzgerald areas.

Big German Merchantman Sent Down

STOCKHOLM, May 17 (AP).—Swedish seamen at Malmo reported today that the 18,160-ton German merchant ship Gneisenau had been sunk in the Southern Baltic last month by a mine. The ship, one of the largest in the German merchant marine, was built in 1935.

The Malmo reports said two German tugboats also were sunk by mines late in April while towing a floating dock and forty persons were killed.

The R.A.F. has engaged in extensive mine sowing in recent weeks.

Justice Richards Paid Tribute by Trade Unionists

Appreciate Effort Toward Production

With seven-day production brought about in all British Columbia shipyards, Mr. Justice S. E. Richards, chairman of the Royal Commission on production, completed his work last evening at a meeting in the Empress Hotel.

To mark the esteem in which he is held, as a result of his chairmanship, the unionists gathered to present to him a hand-drawn, illuminated address, a traditional British custom, which expresses their appreciation of his efforts.

It is signed by John Bligh, Archibald Clyde, S. Robertson, John Woods, R. D. Patterson, John A. Carmichael, W. S. Matthews, and Robert Noble, representing Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders, Machinists, and Dockyard and Shipyard Workers Victoria locals, all of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Mr. Justice Richards was appointed on July 2, and the commission made its report on August 8. Since then he has been sitting at conferences on terms to which unions would be reconciled to the continuous production plan now established in the yards, with a six-day work week for employees. He will return to the Manitoba Court of Appeal.

"The best of feeling now exists between labor and management," Mr. Justice Richards said last night. He added that the plan is now working perfectly at V.M.D. which has the lowest record of absenteeism of any yard in Canada.

"This whole hearing has marked perfect co-operation between labor and management," according to C. A. Clements, who represented V.M.D. at the presentation, with H. S. Hammill and J. Rannie. Representatives from Yarrows Ltd. were Norman Yarrow and William Barclay.

Mr. Patterson, former president of the Boilermakers' Union, presided at the meeting, saying that "Mr. Justice Richards leaves with the best wishes of all trade unionists in Victoria."

CRANBROOK, May 17 (CP).—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the ordination to the priesthood of Rev. A. L. McIntyre of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, was marked at a special service by his congregation and priests from all parts of Nelson diocese.

Your Health and Your Weight

Jas. W. Barton, M.D.

OVERWEIGHT IN CHILDHOOD

When a youngster at school is very thin, he is often nicknamed "Skinny," and if very fat, he is called "Fatty." Most of us remember such youngsters and remember also that the skinny fellows did not mind being called "Skinny," but many of the fat fellows just did not like being called "Fatty." In those days we knew nothing about the gland type of overweight, but thought youngsters were fat because one or other of the parents were fat, or else we thought that the fat boy or girl ate too much. While some fat children played, few of the fat children were as active in games as were the thin children.

Today, when a school child is very fat, he soons knows and hears about it from the other children. Some of these children just laugh about it and say nothing at home about the remarks of their playmates. Other fat children are very sensitive and the parents often know without being told that their youngster is undergoing a tough time at school because of his overweight.

When the excess weight is recognized as a gland condition (thyroid, sex, pituitary), the family physician is often able to reduce the weight and change to some extent the shape of the youngster, particularly if gland treatment is started not later than a year or two before puberty.

However, there are children whose overweight cannot be traced to any gland condition and physicians find it difficult to locate the cause. In The American Journal of Diseases of Children, Drs. I. P. Bronstein, S. Wexler, A. W. Brown and L. J. Halpern, University of Illinois, report their study of thirty-five children whose overweight could not be attributed to any gland disturbances as far as these research workers could see. The average intelligence of these children was above the average. They seemed to fall into two classes; 50 per cent were above the average and 25 per cent below the average. As far as can be learned from achievement tests, these children showed no difference from average children. Of twenty-four boys, only two showed a tendency toward being feminine (sissy). As far as personality was concerned, this group were the same as any other group of children from the standpoint of being leaders or followers among their playmates. As a group they were less "steady" in disposition. As a group also they were definitely sensitive about their overweight. They were fonder of watching other children play than playing games themselves; they preferred to go to the movies or listening to the radio and reading.

There was no known history of overweight in most of the parents or the brothers and sisters of these overweight children.

What did these research workers consider to be the cause of overweight in these children where there were no gland disturbances, no history of overweight in the family and no physical defects?

These research workers agreed that the overweight was for the most part due to their lack of desire for exercise, their desire to watch games instead of playing them, sitting for hours in movies, an abnormal appetite for food, the easy-going or neglectful attitude of the parents who did not see that they played games, did not curb their appetites, and allowed them to sit and read about the home instead of engaging in physical activities.

The thought, then, is that if a youngster is greatly overweight, and the family physician can find no gland disturbance to account for the overweight, the parents must see that the boy or girl plays more, rests less and eats less.

It may change his whole outlook on life to get rid of his excess fat and engage in the activities of other children.

No Glamour and Little Glory For Airmen Who Plant Mines

Written for The Canadian Press
By SGT. A. B. B. MacLEMORE

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—The airmen who go out, usually in the dirtiest kind of weather, to plant deadly sea-mines in enemy waters may lack the glamour of fighter pilots and the sensational records of bombing raids, but their operations are of major importance.

There's not much glory and no glamor in their job. Often all they have to show for their efforts are grim memories of chilly dismal flights [illegible] protective cover of moisture-laden clouds and utter darkness.

Helping perform this job—which calls for high standards of airmanship and navigation—are members of the R.C.A.F. attached to Bomber Command. A lot of them are so young looking they remind you of high school seniors.

TWENTY-ONE-YEAR-OLD FLIGHT SERGEANT

Flt. Sgt. F. W. (Bud) Wood, twenty-one, of Edmonton, is one. He has made many operational flights, not only on mine-laying trips but over some of the toughest enemy hotspots in Germany, France and Italy. But like the others, he claims mine laying is the most exacting of all. On a trip one night last Fall, he ran into a flak ship somewhere in the North Sea and returned to base with seventeen holes in the fuselage of his bomber. But he dropped his mine, a big one, "dead on," according to the intelligence reports.

Arnold Green is a tall, blond-haired, twenty-three-year-old airman from Vancouver. An ace bomber pilot, he says he's been "shot up, shot down, shot under and shot around." Taxiing up the runway several months back, Green brought his aircraft to rest an "climbed out the escape hatch. Looking his plane over, he counted dozens of flat-size holes in the wings and fuselage. A big section of his tailplane was eaten away by flak and the rear turret was honeycombed with bullet holes. But none of his crew was hurt.

"JERRY SEAPLANE GOT ON OUR TAIL"

"A Jerry seaplane swooped out of the clouds and got on our tail," he said. "He gave us a nice long burst that went right into our belly. With the power of only one motor to go on, I knew we were powerless to do anything but hide, so I put the remaining engine on full rich and dived down through the misty fog below.

"Then we ran into another flak ship and got more scrap thrown up. Lost good and proper by this time, our navigator had to set us right, and we 'stooged' around locating our aiming point. Over it, we planted our mines and set course for home."

Damage Axis Ships

LONDON, May 7 (CP).—British Beaufighters damaged two Axis merchant ships with torpedo hits and fired at least three of their escort vessels in an attack this afternoon on a north-bound convoy off the Dutch coast, it was announced tonight.

All the raiders were said to have returned.

MOSQUITO PLAGUE

EDMONTON, May 17 (CP).—A mosquito plague has hit Edmonton. Full force of the invasion of the millions of stinging insects was felt during the week-end by outdoor workers and golfers, and many workers wore head nets to ward off the attacks. University authorities recently warned that the district would probably experience one of the worst mosquito plagues in history this year.

Ickes Suggests Elevated Rail Line to Alaska

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—Interior Secretary Harold Ickes favors construction of an elevated railroad to Alaska.

During testimony before a House of Representatives appropriations subcommittee on the Interior Department's new Appropriation Bill, the record of which was made public today, the secretary said he had only approved enactment of authorization for a second road to Alaska with the understanding work on it be deferred until after the war.

"As a matter of fact," Ickes said, "I would be inclined to suggest to the army engineers that, instead of another highway, they build an elevated railroad all the way across, so that they would not have all this trouble with snow and ice, bogs and all that sort of thing. Originally they would have to use wooden piles."

Yachtsmen Launch New Racing Season

Despite a slack start, due mainly to the number of entrants whose boats were not quite ready, several interesting tussles marked the opening of the 1943 Royal Victoria Yacht Club racing at Cadboro Bay, Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Saturday honors in the "C" class cruiser race went to R. V. James' Lalonga. John Jukes' Crest finishing second. The course was from the club dolphin to Paterson Point, Flower Island, beach mark and home, twice around.

On Sunday, however, Lalonga succumbed to Shangri-la, Ned Ashe, 11:59:25, Lalonga's time was 12:02:15, while Quest finished in 12:05:01.

A. Taylor's Guillemot, being the only entry in the dinghy class, she was paired with the flattie Crest, Randolph Evans, 11:52:20, as against 12:00:02 for the Guillemot.

Jack Woodward's Zephyr II and Pete Townshend's Kittiwake, both auxiliary boats in the "D" class, will compete with the "C" class cruisers, Tom Halkett, now in the navy, and stationed here, has built the snipe, Wee Joe. All three of these are expected to be racing next week.

The commodore's cruise to Chatham Island is scheduled for May 24.

Awards for Airmen

LONDON, May 17 (CP).—The Air Ministry today announced these awards to Canadian airmen.

Distinguished Flying Cross: P/O. J. J. Miesen; P/O. O. R. Pool, Manitoba.

Distinguished Flying Medal: Flt. Sgt. D. M. De Silva; Flt. Sgt. A. M. Horne, Edmonton; Flt. Sgt. D. R. Pearce, Edmonton.

SEATTLE BUYS SALMON

VANCOUVER, May 17 (CP).—Fisheries Department reports that Seattle is buying all British Columbia's large spring salmon, paying 22 cents a pound on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, and 26 to 27 cents if the fish is delivered in Seattle. Small springs unmarketable in Seattle, are bringing 10 cents per pound in Vancouver.

PRINCE GEORGE, May 17 (CP).—From Tuesdays to Sundays Prince George will have a two-way Canadian National Railways passenger service. Increased traffic on the Prince Rupert-Jasper line has made this additional service necessary.

Precision Work In war plants

Calls for active mind and good nervous energy.

Many girls and women of fine ability have undertaken precision work in war industries. They find the work interesting and they are [illegible] to help win the war.

But precision work demands concentration of the mind and not being accustomed to working continuously on their feet for long hours they sometimes find themselves overcome by nervous strain and fatigue.

Many girls have found that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food seems to give them the exact help they need under these circumstances.

And why shouldn't it.—For, you know, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies to the body the Vitamin B1 and iron and other essential food minerals which, when taken together, afford the desired relief from nervousness, irritability and over-fatigue.

Your work is of utmost importance. You do not want to lose a single day. So why not get started at once to build up a reserve of strength and energy so that you may keep fit and enjoy your work.

Be sure to ask for the new economy size bottle of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

DOES INDIGESTION WALLOP YOU BELOW THE BELT?

Help Your Forgotten "28" For The Kind Of Relief That Helps Make You Rarin' To Go

More than half of your digestion is done below the belt—in your 28 feet of bowels. So when indigestion strikes, try something that helps digestion in the stomach AND below the belt.

What you may need is Carter's Little Liver Pills to give needed help to that "forgotten 28 feet" of bowels.

Take one Carter's Little Liver Pill before and one after meals. Take them according to directions. They help wake up a larger flow of the 3 main digestive juices in your stomach AND bowels—help you digest what you have eaten in Nature's own way.

Then most folks get the kind of relief that makes you feel better from your head to your toes. Just be sure you get the genuine Carter's Little Liver Pills from your druggist — 25¢

SCORES of young airmen today are doing essential work on the ground. They can't fly—can't get into action—till someone takes over their jobs. That is what you are asked to do. Will you serve so that one more airman may fly?

Canada's airwomen lead a thrilling life. They go places, do things—things useful to their country and to the allied cause. They meet women from all parts of Canada—airmen from all parts of the Empire. They take interesting courses of training which will equip them for useful positions during and after the war.

Don the Air Force uniform and do your share in winning the war. Help an eager airman to get into action. It's a great opportunity.

The R.C.A.F. needs girls, ages 18 to 45, with at least High School Entrance. Apply at your nearest R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centre, bringing proof of education and birth certificate. EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITIES FOR PROMOTION.

"SHE serves that men may fly!"

Airwomen are needed for these and many other duties:

Clerks . . . Fabric Workers

"Dina Cashman"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XXXI

"Yet the situation has to be dealt with, doesn't it, Caroline?" Rogers said blandly.

"A boy that age," she said, "faced with a thing like this! He aged overnight. I never saw anything like it. 'I don't know what to do!' he kept saying."

"He didn't come West, did he?"

"He couldn't." She hesitated, spoke irresolutely. "We've had trouble enough," she continued; "keeping him from being dropped from college, without running any risk of his asking for a leave. Not to come home to this sort of outrageous accusation and scandal!"

"I think we ought to think of Geraldine as well as of Vere, Caroline," the man said. His pudgy hand moved to the papers on his desk.

"Of whom? Oh, of—of her!" Her contemptuous look moved to Dina, moved away. "Certainly we should," she agreed sharply, "but not at a cost of his career, his whole life! During the Christmas holidays, while we were at Palm Springs, we met the Worthingtons—you know the Philadelphia Horsworth Worthingtons; she was Miriam Horsworth Kathryn, the daughter, goes to Selwyn's in Virginia—well, that's neither here nor there. But she's simply devoted to him, has asked him down for the Easter holidays—all that. It would have been simply ridiculous for him to come West with me now. What was he supposed to have done if he had?"

"He might have married the mother of his child," Rogers answered simply.

"Oh, well!" Caroline Holland said with a sniff. The sniff said plainly, "I don't believe one word of it!" Aloud she said, "Oh, I know you have some letters of his and hers which I've kept. But Orkman says there's not one whit of evidence there. I'm sorry; I'm wretched over the whole thing. But that isn't the way out. We'll have," Vere's mother went on in a lowered, reasonable tone, "to make provision, and you'll have"—she glanced at Dina again—"you'll naturally make whatever arrangements seem good to you. But mind you, Rogers, I don't for one moment assume any responsibility. Neither does Vere's father. "I'll ship the boy to South America first," Van said."

"And what did Vere say to that?"

"My heart ached for him. He kept saying, 'I can't believe it. I can't believe it!' And when I was leaving, poor boy—bothered with his studies and worrying about whether he can keep up or not—he said over and over, 'Whatever you say is right. I'll do, mother. I'll do whatever you say.'"

"So that if you said he had better come West and be married, you think he would?"

Mrs. Holland held her head high, looked into space.

"Which of course I wouldn't!" she said firmly.

"You don't think that's his duty?"

"I don't think that would be for the happiness of anyone concerned. Not for yours or his," she said to Dina; your lives have been completely different; your backgrounds are different. It's too bad, but it can't be helped."

"So that you think the situation had best be left as it is," Rogers said blandly.

"Not at all. Although I can understand you want to make me out absolutely hardheaded about it!" she added with a resentful glance. "I think that it has happened before—it is always happening—and the only thing to do is keep it quiet and help out, of course."

"But even if I were convinced that it is actually true," she went on, "which I am not, I would feel that to wreck two lives is worse than—than wrecking one!

Dina had sat absolutely still during this conversation, her face very pale, her eyes moving from Rogers' face to that of Mrs. Holland, moving solemnly back again. Now suddenly she spoke.

"I—I would try to make Vere a good wife, Mrs. Holland," she said. "If—if I could see him, if I could talk to him——" her voice faltered to silence.

"I'm afraid that's impossible," Vere's mother said decisively. "He's borne enough about it all! And this—I had this telegram this morning, Rogers," she added, taking a folded yellow paper from her bag. "I wasn't going to mention it, but now I think it's only fair to let you know. This was Van's idea, and while what I just said about keeping Vere in school was quite true, he isn't there now at all. They've left, he and young Worthington and a tutor; they sailed this morning."

Rogers took the telegram and read it aloud.

"'Boys off at nine. Worthington family all present at dock to say good-bye. Confident this is best plan. Love to Mimi. Van.'"

"So you see that's that," Caroline said nervously.

"I trust that as far as Vere and I are concerned the matter is settled," Vere's mother added, rising.

"It would seem so. But wait a minute; don't be in any hurry to go, Caroline," Rogers said. "I'm sure you'd be interested in hearing about our plans—mine and Geraldine's."

Caroline after a moment's sharp scrutiny, dropped back into her chair.

"I can't see that they concern me!" she said. But her voice and manner were uneasy.

"But they might interest you," Rogers said politely. "Geraldine and I," he went on with a smile for the girl who looked worn and white, shrinking back in her big chair, "are going to be married."

There was a silence. Dina looked at no one but the eyes of Caroline and Rogers were fixed on each other.

"What are you talking about!" Caroline presently exclaimed. "I never heard such nonsense!"

"I felt you ought to know," Rogers assured her. She sat down again.

"I don't in the least understand what your objective can be in making such a remark, Rogers," Her tone was steel. But there was still a hint of uneasiness in it.

"I mean that there is to be another Mrs. Holland here very soon," the man said.

"You're joking!" Caroline said breathlessly.

"Not at all. I've been lonely here long enough. We need young blood in the family."

Duncan Teachers Want Substantial Increases

DUNCAN, May 17—At a meeting of the Duncan Consolidated School Board, applications for substantial increases in salary were received from three teachers, M. F. Menkes, H. E. Flood and R. C. Smith. The trustees decided to abide by the recently-instituted salary schedule.

Trustee R. E. Collis was appointed the board's representative on the district farm labor committee.

On the recommendation of the finance committee, additional fire insurance on school buildings, to the amount of $11,400 was placed with the Halifax Insurance Company through their representative, C. W. O'Neill.

How It Started——

By JEAN NEWTON

"BROWN AS A BERRY"

Credit this one to our flair for alliteration, but for which the phrase would be "Brown as a nut"; for the simile comes to us from the days when the term berry was applied to nuts.

Among the early writers in whose works we find the expression are Chaucer, who used it in "Canterbury Tales," and Sheridan who, in his "School for Scandal," proposes toast to the maid who is "Brown as a Berry."

Offhand, about the only berry we can think of that is brown, and topical, too, is the coffee berry (or is it a bean?), and that does not get chocolaty till it is roasted; but there were many brown "berries" in the day when they were so-called instead of nuts!

Game Seasons Recommended

Await Approval Of Island Body

Awaiting approval by the Affiliated Fish and Game Association of Vancouver Island prior to being submitted to the Game Commission for final ratification, game seasons and bag limits were recommended at last night's meeting of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association held at the Chamber of Commerce. Approximately 100 sportsmen were in attendance.

Opening dates were recommended as follows:

Pheasants—To open on Saturday, October 16, the first two days of the season at 12 o'clock noon. Close on Sunday, November 28. Bag limit same as last year.

California Quail—Same as pheasants, with no change in bag limit.

Willow Grouse—Season to remain same as last year. No change in bag limit.

Deer—Season to open September 11 and close on November 30. Bucks only, bag limit, three.

Bear—Season to remain same as last year. Bag limit unchanged.

The meeting endorsed a letter from the Lower Mainland Fish and Game Association requesting that small arms and sporting ammunition, now frozen, be rationed for use by hunters. The question has received the endorsation of organizations in the Western Provinces and has been brought to the attention of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Federal members at Ottawa. Release to hunters of the popular gauges, twelve, sixteen and twenty, is requested.

The next meeting of the Island body will be held at the Eagles Hall, Nanaimo, on May 28, when the local delegates will include Ted McConnan, Jack King, George Laird and Reay Meldrum.

GRAPHIC GOLF

BY BEST BALL

LEARN PROPER BACKSWING FIRST

Bobby Jones once observed that it might be a good thing if beginning golfers were induced to learn the proper start and the correct backswing, before they were ever permitted to hit a ball. For in addition to giving a player a better understanding of the correct backswing mechanics, the player would absorb the fundamentals of a technique necessary to keep the hands from straying outside the line of flight. Correctly made, the top of the backswing should place a golfer in such a position that the right elbow will drop down close to the right side at the start of the downstroke. Jones has done this expertly in the above illustration, the upper part of the right arm is comfortably close to the right side as the club descends. From such a position it is possible to continue the swing in an inside-out arc, the clubhead either striking the ball at such an angle in a modified way or else coming onto it in a straight-ahead-along-the flight manner.

Neglecting the right arm at the beginning of the downswing, leaves it free to move out in front of the body. For awhile this fault is pronounced, at least for a part of the downswing, so that at impact it becomes necessary to draw the clubhead in. This means just the opposite kind of impact, from the outside-in hit. In terms of flight it means a slice, an error most novices in the game have to combat.

Vernon Stephens Lost to Squad

ST. LOUIS, May 17 (AP).—Vern Stephens, of St. Louis Browns, the American League's top hitter, fractured the patella in his left knee Sunday sliding into second base and he'll be out of the line-up for six to eight weeks.

Stephens' loss is the topper to a list of woes long enough to give most managers the screaming meemies, but Luke Sewell just sticks another wad of gum in his mouth and says nothing.

In Vern, a rookie sensation last year, he loses a slugger currently pounding the ball at a .368 clip. Also, Don Gutteridge, the other half of his regular double-play combination, is on the bench. The peppery little second baseman is floundering in a slump.

To replace Stephens, Sewell will call on Mark Christman and Floyd Baker. Christman, a right-handed hitter, will go against right-handed pitchers, and Baker, a left-handed batter, will perform against southpaws.

Don Heffner probably will continue at second base a few days, until Sewell feels Gutteridge has overcome his hitting troubles.

The first English printed advertisement is believed to have appeared in 1477.

Shot Put in Race Victory

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 17 (AP).—Mrs. M. Evans' one time marathon champion of the American turf, Shot Put, raced to a stirring victory in the twenty-fifth running of the Kentucky Handicap as the twenty-nine-day Spring racing season at Churchill Downs came to a close.

Only four horses were entered in the race but the $2,500 stakes, provided so close a finish that a photograph was necessary to show Shot Put's slim nose victory over Gailbreath Dienst's Best Seller. Best Seller was 1-2 in the betting.

Shot Put moved from last position to draw alongside Best Seller for a neck-and-neck race to the wire.

Third money went to W. C. Davis' Knightfors, which came in six lengths farther back. The fourth and last contestant, Onemore, was ten lengths farther back.

Shot Put ran the mile and an eighth in 1:56 4-5 and his victory was worth $1,925 to Mrs. Evans.

Sports Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 17 (CP).—Bill Gaynon, of The Niagara Falls Review, figures the fact Eddie Shore, of Buffalo Bisons, let New York Rangers draft Goalie Gordon Bell is further evidence that Buffalo will enter the National Hockey League next season. Gaynon says Buffalo is "almost a certainty" to enter the major league. He writes:

"If the Bisons were to remain in minor settings, the Bell shift would net the owners but $7,500, while his sale to either the New York club or Chicago Black Hawks which, we understand, was possible following the playing season, would have brought twice that sum.

"Buffalo's general manager is too shrewd to hockey doings to gamble that heavily and those who might be uttering the odd chuckle over Mr. Shore being outfoxed by the intelligent Lester (Patrick) would be well advised to reserve their jollification pending the official notification that both Cleveland and Buffalo will ascend to N.H.L. territory next Autumn."

ONE FOR HIS NOBS

Blame Harry (Calgary Albertan) Scott for this: "Two army officers en route to Gordon Head, B.C., recently are believed to have set a world's endurance record for cribbage. During the trip from Winnipeg to Vancouver and the boat to Victoria they played no less than 382 games of crib. Ten cents a game was the stakes and when they played the last game before leaving the boat, there was only a difference of thirty cents between them. Names of the officers? That's a military secret."

Al Lenard, Hamilton Wildcats backfielder who led the Ontario Rugby Football Union individual scoring last season with fifty-four points, has enlisted in the navy as an ordinary seaman. . . . Manager Jack Adams, of the Stanley Cup champions, Detroit Red Wings, says he likes Goalie Johnny Mowers because he is "twice as bad a loser as I am. That's what I like. Give me those bad losers; let the other clubs have the good losers."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP).—Pennsylvania recently passed a law permitting kids of sixteen to compete in amateur boxing tournaments. . . . That doesn't mean so much, because plenty of sixteen-year-olds have borrowed birth certificates from older pals to get an early start. . . . But Judge Eugene C. Bonniewell and Ralph Marlow, A.A.U. men who backed the bill, are working on a plan to enlist high school support and to create a special class for the younger novices, so they may even have some real amateurs in their amateur tournaments.

MORE KID STUFF

The Western Golf Association, working on a plan to make caddying more attractive to boys and their parents, suggests that clubs put in victory garden programmes, supervised physical training, commando drills and instruction in other useful tasks and crafts besides lugging golf clubs. . . . We might add one more lesson, valuable to bag toters in later life—when and how to keep one's trap shut.

Friday's Beau Jack-Bob Montgomery tussle will be the first title fight of the year in Madison Square Garden, which has had at least two championship scraps before May for the last five seasons.

When his Birmingham Barons were playing at New Orleans recently Manager Paul Florence promised the players a steak dinner if they won a double-header. . . . After they broke even, someone asked him where he would have got the steaks. . . . "By golly, I never thought of that," gasped Paul. "I really would have been on the spot if we'd won both."

THE ADVENTURES OF DANNY AND NANNY BEGIN

Watch out, Danny! Watch out, Nanny!
Little folks as small as you
Never, never ought to wander
Far from home the way you do.

Timid Nibbler the House Mouse opened his mouth to shriek a warning to Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse as they scampered across Farmer Brown's barnyard at the very beginning of their long journey back to their old home on the Green Meadows after spending the Winter in Farmer Brown's barn. But timid Nibbler was too frightened to make a sound. There was Black Pussy just coming around the corner of the barn, and though he wanted to warn his two adventurous cousins of their danger, the very sight of Black Pussy took away his voice. It is just that way with some timid people. So all Nibbler could do was to peep out of the door with horror in his eyes and watch what might happen.

Now, never in his whole life had Nibbler dared cross a great open space like that barnyard. His whole life had been spent inside that barn and seldom had he ever ventured more than a few feet from a safe hiding place. When in the dead of night he had scampered swiftly across the barn floor he had felt very brave and bold. But to go out in the open as Danny and Nanny were doing, and in broad daylight at that, was to Nibbler's little mind nothing short of craziness. He had done his very best to get them to give up the idea of that long journey and to stay with him in the barn. But they would go. Danny had laughed at Nibbler's fears. And now, here at the very start, his worst fears were likely to be realized. At least, that is the way it looked to Nibbler.

But Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse were brought up out under the sky instead of under a roof, and that made all the difference in the world. All their lives they had been used to unexpected dangers, and they were not caught napping now. Danny had seen Black Pussy even before Nibbler had. Also, before he had left the barn, Danny had decided just where he was going. On the other side of the barnyard was a pile of old rails. It was straight for these that Danny way headed. The instant he saw Black Pussy, and that was before she saw him, he squeaked a warning to Nanny Meadow Mouse at his heels. My, how their little, short legs did take them over the ground! Their short, stubby tails were straight out behind, as if they were pointing at Black Pussy as much as to say, "You can't catch us if you try!"

They were not quite halfway across the barnyard when Black Pussy caught sight of them. With a bound she was after them, and how she did run! Nibbler, peeping out from the doorway of the barn, held his breath with horror as he saw that one more jump would bring Black Pussy on Nanny, and perhaps Danny, too, for Nanny was right at Danny's heels. Then, as Black Pussy made that jump, something happened. Yes, sir, something happened. Danny Meadow Mouse hadn't dodged enemies all his life for nothing. Just at the very instant Black Pussy made that spring Danny squeaked a warning to Nanny and dodged to the left while Nanny dodged to the right.

Black Pussy landed between them, her sharp claws clutching nothing at all but the ground. For just an instant she was too surprised to know what to do next. You see, she had been absolutely sure that she would catch at least one of those fat mice. Then, for another instant, she was undecided which one to chase. This was exactly what Danny had counted on. By the time Black Pussy had made up her mind that she would chase Danny both he and Nanny were very near the pile of old rails. Two seconds later, Danny and Nanny were safe and Black Pussy was wildly clawing under those old rails in angry disappointment, while in the doorway of the barn Nibbler was hugging himself in joy and relief.

"Cousin Danny certainly knows how to look out for himself," squeaked Nibbler, as he scurried back to his home in the haymow. "Just the same, I'm glad I didn't go with them."

SUGGESTIONS FOR TODAY AND WEDNESDAY

SERVE SOUP OFTEN
It's Nourishing
It's Easy

After a long day's work, there's nothing so cheering for you as soup . . . Thick soup is nourishing, a meal in itself. Soup is very easy to digest, an important point when you are tired. And if you keep a soup pot handy on the stove, soup is as easy to make as A B C.

To make your soup more substantial, add rice, short pieces of macaroni or spaghetti, pearl barley or cracked wheat. Serve soup often, and simplify your job of meal preparation.
